

SOVIET-CHINA FEUD WORSE

Russia Ups Spat Notch

... TO GOVERNMENT LEVEL

Moscow (A) — The Soviet Union Wednesday night held Red China to blame for what it called "a sharp deterioration of relations between the U.S.S.R. and the People's Republic of China."

The official statement of the Soviet Communist Party's central committee, distributed by the news agency Tass, appeared to raise to the level of relations between governments — apart from ideological relations between Communist Parties — the worsening quarrel between Moscow and Peking.

Red Guard Tactics

The Russians, smarting at the mass demonstrations of China's teen-age Red Guards, vilifying Soviet communism as "revisionism," deplored what they termed Chinese actions which weaken world Communist unity. Moscow added that the responsibility must rest "fully with the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party and the People's Republic of China."

It is rare that Moscow goes so far as to refer to its differences with Peking as a quarrel on the government level. Up to now, the Soviet party has preferred to regard the differences as involving interpretations of ideology.

The statement thus seemed to advance the quarrel another step and present it in the light of a clash between the national interests of the Soviet Union and those of Red China.

In Reply

The statement was issued as a reply to the blast published in Peking at the close of a recent full session of the Red Chinese central committee which, the Soviet document pointed out, was presided over personally by Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

The Soviet party deplored what it called "slander" of the U.S.S.R., and added that such behavior "renders a particularly big service to imperialism and reaction."

The statement from the Kremlin follows by five days a strong rebuke to Red China from Moscow after Red Guards—the young Chinese standard-bearers of the purge Peking calls "the great proletarian cultural revolution"—badgered and harassed Soviet diplomats at their embassy in Peking.

Their Own Path

Moscow said the Chinese actions indicated they were intent upon a go-it-alone course, so far as world communism is concerned.

"The decisions of the (Chinese Communist) plenary meeting have officially confirmed the intention of the Chinese Communist Party leadership to implement further their own course, opposing it to the Marxist-Leninist line jointly worked out by fraternal parties at the (Moscow) conferences of 1957 and 1960," the Soviet statement said.

"The documents of the plenary meeting show that the CPC (Chinese Communist Party) leadership has given approval of its anti-Soviet line the form of an official policy of the Chinese Communist Party."

"It is becoming increasingly more obvious that the leadership of the PRC (People's Republic of China), using the concoctions about the U.S.S.R.'s 'collusion' with U.S. imperialism and the 'restoration of capitalism' in the Soviet Union as a cover, is again provoking a sharp deterioration of relations between the U.S.S.R. and the PRC."

"The CPSU (Communist Party, Soviet Union) central committee believes that such actions and the statements officially made by the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party signify a new and serious step damaging the cause of unity of the international Communist movement."

CAN FILL MANY POSITIONS . . .

Governor's Appointive Power Asset To Party

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles by Star Political Writer Don Walton on the importance of the governorship to political parties.

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A card file in the governor's office lists the statutory committees and commissions and boards and councils which are filled by gubernatorial appointment.

Names in the card file list total 356.

They do not include 13 key full-time executive department heads appointed by the governor.

They do not include any U.S. senators, State Supreme Court justices, District Court judges or state senators, all appointed by the governor in the event of vacancies.

Special Units
They do not include a host of special gubernatorial committees and commissions which may be appointed at his discretion to consider any long waiting list of applicants for the seven-member Potato Development Committee or the five-member Predator, Bird and Rodent Management Advisory Board.

But the governor's list of 24 statutory boards, 16 commissions, 10 committees, five councils and two appointive courts (the Court of Industrial Relations and the Workmen's Compensation Court) contains some key positions.

Many Aspirants

There are likely to be a number of aspirants for appointment to the Aeronautics Commission, the Educational Television Commission, The Game, Forestation and Parks Commission, the State Board of Health, the Highway Advisory Commission, The Liquor Control Commission, the State Normal Board and the Nebraska Power Review Board.

Those eight bodies have 52

lature, but there is some legal question as to whether the next governor could force out George Dworak, who was appointed in 1964 to serve the unexpired portion of a term ending Sept. 26, 1969.

Among other state officials appointed by the governor are the fire marshal and the athletic commissioner.

Most Obvious

The power of appointment is perhaps the most obvious of the advantages which a political party holds when its nominee wins the governor's office.

And that appointive power will pass in January from Frank Morrison to either Republican Norbert Tiemann or Democrat Philip Sorensen.

Winning the governorship in 1966 is more important than ever, Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney suggests.

Lose 8 Years

"An incumbent always has an advantage," he noted, "and with the term expanding this year to four years, the losing party this time could lose eight years instead of just four."

A second term has not been denied to an incumbent governor since 1930 when Republican Gov. Arthur J. Weaver lost to Democrat Charles W. Bryan by 6,546 votes.

Republican officials agree that 1966 may be the most important year of all for them.

The governor's race is wide open without an incumbent for the first time since 1960.

Not Much in '68
And as one GOP official points out, there is not much left to win in 1968 if the party fails in 1966.

There is no Senate race two years hence and no statewide contests for Statehouse offices due to the expansion of terms to four years.

All that will be up for grabs in 1968 are the three congressional seats and two district posts on the State Railway Commission.

This is the year for both parties.

David Osterhout, 50, chief of the Division of Nebraska Resources since 1959, will also become acting president of Doane College at Crete on Thursday, it was announced Wednesday.

Gov. Frank Morrison said Osterhout has agreed to continue his duties in the state post until a successor is named under a new state administration in early January.

Morrison said Osterhout will be on two-thirds pay during this interim period. The post is salaried at $9,960 annually.

De Gaulle Places U.S. Pullout First

Phnom Penh (A)—President Charles de Gaulle said Thursday that the United States must agree to withdraw its forces from Vietnam before a negotiated settlement of the war is possible.

Speaking before more than 60,000 Cambodians in the Phnom Penh stadium, De Gaulle said:

"The possibility and even more the opening of such a vast and difficult negotiation (to end the war) would obviously depend on the decisions and the commitments which America would previously have chosen to take and enter into, to repatriate its forces in an appropriate and fixed period of time."

The French president said that no matter how long the war goes on, "France holds as certain that it will meet with no military solution."

"Short of the universe rolling toward catastrophe, a political agreement alone could bring back peace," he continued.

He said the war could be settled only along the lines of the Geneva agreements of 1954 which ended the French-Indochinese War.

"Exactly as for the agreement of 1954," he said, "the object of this one would be to establish and guarantee the neutrality of the peoples of Indochina and their right of self-determination as these peoples actually are and leaving to each of them full responsibilities for its own affairs."

"The contracting parties would therefore be the real powers in action there and among the other states the five world powers, at the least."

Hinky-Dinky Hit By Fire

A two-alarm fire late Wednesday night caused "considerable damage" to the Hinky-Dinky Store at 25th and O.

Fire Chief Dallas Johnson said the smoky blaze was "knocked-out" early Thursday.

Store manager Darrel Komma said their was approximately $300,000 worth of stock in the store. Most of the stock appeared at least smoke-damaged.

Chief Johnson said the fire started in the incinerator room in the southeast corner of the store. Firemen were investigating the cause early Thursday.

Komma said all employees were out of the store by 9:20 p.m.

Negro Youths Stone Benton Harbor Cars

Benton Harbor, Mich. (UPI)—Angry Negro youths stoned cars Wednesday as National Guard troops posed for riot duty in a Negro neighborhood rocked by three straight nights of racial violence.

A white man, Willard Bellefield Jr., 36, of Benton Harbor, meantime was arrested and charged with murder in the shooting of a Negro, Cecil Hunt, 18. The victim, shot Tuesday night, died Wednesday.

The crowd gathered Wednesday in the same Negro neighborhood where mobs hurled stones and bottles, smashed windows and pelted police with rocks Tuesday night in the worst incident since the racial outbreak broke out Sunday night.

Five youths were arrested in the rock-throwing spree and Negro leaders, trying to head off a fourth night of rioting, urged the crowd to go home. Six citizens' teams, each including several teenagers, launched a door-to-door campaign in public housing projects urging Negro parents to keep their children at home.

Mayor Wilbert Smith said Negro leaders told him the riots were sparked by "a lack of recreational facilities and bullying by local policemen."

About 300 helmeted National Guard troops set up headquarters at an armory in South Haven, Mich., 22 miles north of here. Gov. George Romney ordered them on alert and said they would be rushed to this riot-torn Lake Michigan city if needed.

Smith blamed the trouble on outsiders.

Teacher Called Freeman's Bluff Over His Children's School Prayers

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

"I called his bluff and I guess I won for the time being," Mrs. Grace Boomer declared.

"Dan Freeman ordered me to stop the devotional exercises we held daily, but I refused. I never heard how they made out there until I read the article in the Lincoln Star," the 94-year-old former teacher explained.

Mrs. Boomer of 4620 Randolph, founder and operator for 45 years of the Boomer Printing Co. here, related her confrontation with Nebraska homesteader Daniel Freeman after reading Monday's account of Freeman's winning a State Supreme Court decision eliminating religious instruction from the schools.

First Teacher
The first teacher of Freeman's children in the Gage County rural school, Mrs. Boomer, then Miss Grace Youngkin, met the old, bearded man just once.

One day during the year of her first teaching job at the age of 18, Mrs. Boomer was "ordered outside" by a rough character who observed the class was singing "America" and "you no doubt have devotional exercises too," she recalled the conversation.

"Every morning," was her curt reply.

Freeman told her, "I want you to know that's got to stop."

But the young teacher demanded a written order from the school board before she would change her customary routine.

MRS. GRACE BOOMER

out into the street for the devotional exercises," she recalled telling the unwanted visitor.

"He rode off and never came to see me again," Mrs. Boomer noted.

"And we continued our devotional exercises as we pleased," she said, explaining that they consisted of the Lord's Prayer, singing "America," and "repeating the 23rd Psalm or another scripture."

"None of the children ever objected to the morning prayer, and recitations," she added.

Freeman "did his best to scare me," Mrs. Boomer remembered. "He wasn't even polite enough to take off his hat or say 'good morning' or get off his horse," she commented.

"Roughneck"
The homesteader, who Mrs. Boomer said was known in the area as a "roughneck," used "all kinds of foul language to me because I refused to obey his orders."

Fried Chicken . . . 79c Complete dinner. Ruppert Luncheonette, 13th & N.—Adv.

The young woman had just moved to Beatrice when she decided to drop out of school after finishing the eighth grade and "had no trouble with the examination" to get a teacher's certificate.

"I got a job in Dan Freeman's district," she said. Some of the area residents had even urged her to board with the Freemans but she decided against it and never met the man till the one day at school.

Mrs. Boomer stayed at the Gage County rural school one year but taught around and in Beatrice for the next nine years.

After her marriage to the late George Boomer, former superintendent of schools and University of Nebraska professor, she taught art for 15 years before moving to Lincoln.

Daniel Freeman, famous for being the first homesteader under the 1872 act, later accosted Miss Edith Beecher who considered religious instruction part of her duty at the district school.

He appealed to the Gage County District Court where he lost, but carried the case to the Nebraska Supreme Court which banned sectarian instruction from public schools, touching off a controversy throughout the state.

Pentagon News Chief Grilled

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department's chief information officer denied Wednesday that he attempted to manage news coming from Viet Nam and declared, "No government information program can be based on lies."

"No government official has the right to lie but he has the duty to protect his country," Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public information, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Sylvester was called before the committee to discuss the Defense Department's role in dealing with news coverage of the Viet Nam war.

In an opening statement, Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., set the scene by declaring, "Almost continuously over the past two years the Defense Department has been charged by responsible journalists and newspapers with managing, or some say mismanaging, the flow of news from Viet Nam."

Further, Fulbright said, the problem of understanding the situation in Viet Nam "seems intensified by a public suspicion that our government is deliberately refraining from providing adequate and accurate information."

Fulbright told Sylvester at one point that the administration is not giving Congress and the public all the facts on American buildup in Thailand.

Reluctance

The chairman, a leading critic of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, said he plans a hearing on Thailand but said administration witnesses are "reluctant to testify."

Fulbright said there is little reason for the committee's existence unless it would "give some kind of opinion in advance" on commitments such as in Thailand.

Former newsman Sylvester disowned, as he has in the past, a statement attributed to him that a government may lie under certain circumstances.

He also denied trying to manage news or knowing a good definition for managing it. He said:

"I would like to suggest that the only place news is managed, can be managed, and should be managed is in the newspaper office. I think the use of the term managed news by the government is never clear. Frankly it puzzles me. I don't know what managed news is."

Impression

Later Fulbright said, "You seemed to leave the impression that news was managed by news editors."

Sylvester: "Because of fixed white space and time on the air, there is a problem of what to use . . . The only way it can be managed is by what is used by the editor."

The day's sharpest exchange came over Sylvester's discussion of a now discontinued program to transport newsmen to Viet Nam.

In 1961, he said, there were only 40 American and foreign newsmen in South Viet Nam and "as a result, there was considerable concern within the Defense Department that the people of the United States were not receiving adequate factual information concerning our efforts in Viet Nam."

Free Ride

To remedy this situation, he said, the Pentagon began a program July 17, 1964, to transport U.S. newsmen to Viet Nam for 10-day stays. All costs except for transportation were paid by the news media, he said.

Before the program was terminated in August 1965, when the press corps in Viet Nam had increased to about 450, Sylvester said 82 newsmen were transported under the program.

Sylvester said he feels the program was a success and that it "clearly contributed significantly to 'priming the pumps' of U.S. and world media interest in the struggle for freedom in Viet Nam."

Trained Seals

But Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., blasted the idea, saying it could turn newsmen "into trained seals." And he declared:

"Our news policy in Viet Nam is barbarous, revolting, lacking in candor and largely responsible for the credibility gap we have been hearing about."

Sylvester: "You have made some very serious charges without documentation. I suggest you are libeling a large number of newsmen by suggesting they can be bought for a plane ride to Viet Nam."

Clark said his documentation is what he reads in the newspapers.

MAO AT RALLY OF RED GUARD

Tokyo (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of youths from all parts of Red China attended a rally sponsored by the militant Red Guard in Peking Tuesday and were urged to intensify the purge of "a handful of bourgeois rightists."

Radio Peking said Defense Minister Marshal Lin Biao, new No. 2 man in the Communist Chinese leadership, and Premier Chou En-lai addressed the rally.

Chairman Mao Tze-tung was present but did not speak, the broadcast said. It said Lin spoke in behalf of Mao.

Heavenly Peace

Japanese reports from Peking said 300,000 Red Guards, mostly middle school students clad in khaki uniforms and wearing red armbands, filled the Peking Square of Heavenly Peace (Tien Nan Men).

Lin urged the gathering to "further develop the cultural revolution, smash four olds (old idea, old culture, old customs and old habits) and deal a heavy blow to a handful of bourgeois rightists."

The broadcast also quoted Lin as saying the Red Guards should abide by the 16 points laid down by the party central committee emphasizing avoidance of force. Observers said Lin's remarks were aimed at restraining excesses in the Red Guard campaign.

Urged To Overcome

Chou said the Red Guards movement gave a rise to the cultural revolution, and urged the youths to "overcome various difficulties and obstructions and accomplish the revolution under the red banner of great leader Mao Tze-tung."

Mao rode around the vast spectacle in an open automobile with Lin.

Lin began his speech by saying he was speaking "on behalf of our great teacher, great leader, great supreme commander and great helmsman, Chairman Mao."

Acclaimed

He told the Red Guards Mao and the party central committee "warmly acclaim your proletarian revolutionary spirit." Then he cried: "Firmly oppose any attempt to suppress you! Your revolutionary actions are very fine. We hail you, and salute you."

Japanese correspondents said outsiders were barred from the rally in Peking's Red Square. The newspaper Yomiuri's correspondent said it was believed the rally might wind up with the organization of a nationwide Red Guard movement with headquarters in Peking.

In their zeal, the Red Guards have set out to wipe out all foreign influence in China, and the collision with foreigners brought a second protest from a Communist country.

East Germans

East Germany charged that two of its military attaches, their wives and a son were pulled from a car in Peking Sunday by the Red Guards and were "brutally mishandled." It forwarded a sharp protest to Peking.

The Soviet Union filed a stiff protest with Peking last Friday, charging that the Red Guard has harassed embassy personnel. It demanded the government put an end to such "hooligan pranks."

Elders Of 8 Nuns, Harassed, Ousted By Chinese, Is Dead

From Press Reports

Hong Kong — An aged Roman Catholic nun, one of eight teaching sisters harassed by the youthful Red Guards in Peking and driven out of Red China as "spies" died in Hong Kong Thursday.

Another was hospitalized and all were suffering from fatigue on arrival here Wednesday.

One report said the nuns had been beaten with bamboo sticks.

A spokesman at St. Theresa's Hospital said Sister Eamon of Cork, Ireland, who fainted at the border Wednesday, died after dawn.

Oldest

Sister Eamon, the former Mary O'Sullivan, was 85. She was the oldest nun among the group arriving in this British colony after an arduous train trip that began in Peking Sunday.

A Hong Kong newspaper quoted one of the nuns, Sister Thomas A'Beckett, born Catherine Rogan in Britain, as saying:

"We were forced to run the gauntlet up and down a flight of stairs and were beaten with bamboo sticks by communists shouting 'qual ti' (hurry up)."

"They terrorized and humiliated us but they did not assault us to the extent of causing bodily harm."

Mother Superior Conleth of the Franciscan Mission of Mary said death resulted "from heart failure and strain."

Antirevolutionary

The communists claimed the nuns had been engaged in "antirevolutionary activities" in the school they operated for children of foreign diplomats in the Chinese capital.

Sister Eamon collapsed on the Chinese side of the border minutes before crossing a bridge between Shunchum, China, and Hong Kong.

Chinese guards dumped the elderly nun on a rubber-tired baggage cart and gave it a shove.

British border police and immigration officials pushed the cart to the other side where a British official picked her up and carried her into a waiting room.

Sister Eamon and another nun, Mother Mary of the Cross, 76, were rushed to the hospital in an ambulance from the border. Officials said they were suffering from "general fatigue."

The other six nuns, aged up to 73, spent the night in the seclusion of the St. Rose of Lima convent school.

Officials said they needed rest and could not be disturbed.

Some of the nuns said they had not slept in the past eight days. Others said they had only cat-napped.

Once Famed

The nuns were attached to the Sacred Heart Academy in Peking, once a famous girls' school run by the Franciscan Mission of Mary.

The communists allowed them to continue operating the academy to permit schooling for children of foreign diplomats stationed in the Chinese capital.

The school was ordered closed Aug. 25 after demonstrations by members of the militant Red Guards.

U.S. Pilots Shoot Up 2 PT Boats

Saigon (AP) — American pilots shot up two communist torpedo boats and staged one of the biggest propaganda raids of the war over North Viet Nam Wednesday, the U.S. command announced. Ten million leaflets urged Hanoi's troops to give up.

A Navy RF8 reconnaissance Crusader was shot down eight miles southeast of Haiphong. The pilot parachuted from the crippled plane — the 348th officially listed as lost over the north — and was rescued by a helicopter. Radio Hanoi claimed that two others also were felled.

American pilots raided fuel and transportation facilities in the panhandle of North Viet Nam, striking near coastal Dong Hoi and against a freight train near Thanh Hoa.

They reported three secondary explosions, and three boxcars and six trucks destroyed.

In fresh Viet Cong terrorism, a grenade killed a civilian at a bus station at Ninh Kieu, 80 miles southwest of Saigon, and a mine killed three bus passengers near Phong Dien, about 400 miles north of the capital.

A night fight at a Special Forces camp marked action in the south. For the second time in five days, Viet Cong opened up against a U.S. Green Beret detachment and Vietnamese militiamen at Trai Bi, 67 miles northwest of Saigon and 10 miles east of the Cambodian frontier.

Striking by the light of flares, U.S. helicopters machine-gunned enemy positions and cut off the attack after 10 minutes.

Leaflet Drop Concentrated In Small Area

Saigon (AP) — American planes showered 10,000,000 leaflets Wednesday on a small area of North Viet Nam calling on communist soldiers to come over to the side of allied forces.

The leaflet drop, equalling the largest previous propaganda raids, was concentrated in the area from the 17th Parallel border 40 miles north of Dong Hoi. This area contains some of the major infiltration routes for North Vietnamese troops moving into the south.

The leaflets said the Hanoi regime dared not admit that North Vietnamese soldiers are fighting in South Viet Nam. It carried a photograph of a North Vietnamese soldier killed at Plei Me in November 1965 and said:

"Many thousands will continue to die if they don't come over to ARVN (Army of the Republic of Viet Nam) or allied forces. Only these will live to return home."

Ex-Nebraskan Critically Hurt In Aspen Stabbing

... Wife, 2nd Woman Dead In Apparent Murder-Suicide

Aspen, Colo. (AP)—This glamorous resort, a ski mecca in winter and intellectual retreat in summer, was rocked by the slaying of two attractive 24-year-old women and the stabbing of the estranged husband of one of them.

Police Chief Marion Scott said an apparent murder-suicide involving Gay Barbara Prior and Mrs. Sonja Griffin climaxed a love triangle among the young set that frolics on the snow slopes from Thanksgiving to Easter and works at restaurants and dude ranches during the warm months.

Miss Prior Mrs. Griffin

About seven hours after the gruesome find at the Aspen house, a resident along the Castle Creek Road four miles west of Aspen reported finding the body of a woman.

She was shot in the chest by a 30.06 high powered rifle that lay against her body. She was identified as Griffin's wife. Her husband's jeep automobile was nearby.

Friends said Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, who had been married about three years, separated two weeks ago after a domestic quarrel.

Griffin, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Griffin of Seward, had lived at Aspen about seven years. Miss Prior, identified as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Prior of East Hampton, Conn., had been at Aspen about two years. Mrs. Griffin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Magnusson, Barre, Vt.

Counties Will Compile Specialized Equipment List For Disaster Use

Norfolk (AP)—A list of specialized equipment in Madison County which could be available in case of disasters—severe snowstorms, tornadoes, floods—is being compiled by Norfolk-Madison County Civil Defense, according to Paul Harm, director.

Letters are being sent to 75 government agencies and private industries requesting aid if necessary. A list of such machines as cars, station wagons, dump trucks, tractors, pickups, gravel trucks and others is to be compiled for possible use.

The action was started because of the decision of the newly organized Area Civil Defense Directors Association composed of 20 counties in central and northeast Nebraska.

Similar lists are being compiled by directors within the other counties and the information is to be exchanged. Thus, if one county has a disaster, officials will know who and where to call for specific equipment.

Officers of the association are hopeful that other counties in the state will follow the same procedure.

Nebraska News

In Barre, Vt., became distressed at her estranged husband's association with Miss Prior, a vivacious former resident of East Hampton, Conn.

A tall blonde of athletic physique, Miss Prior led horseback rides at a dude ranch in the daytime this summer and worked evenings in a fashionable restaurant. Last winter she was a ski instructor.

Ranch hand Griffin, was a bronzed ranch hand at the same dude layout. For the past several winters he worked in a sports shop and skied at every chance.

Mrs. Griffin went Tuesday night to the kitchen of a two-story house where Miss Prior was staying this summer. She cared for the property in the absence of the owner, Roberta Rudd.

Around midnight, Griffin and Miss Prior came into the home through the front door. Both were attacked and stabbed with a bone handled hunting knife with a four-inch blade.

Officers, answering a disturbance call, found Mrs. Prior dead in a hallway leading from the kitchen to an outside door. The bone-handled knife protruded from her chest. Officers said she died within seconds from a heart wound.

Griffin was found nearby in the hall in a semi-conscious condition suffering from stab wounds in the abdomen and wrist. At Aspen Hospital, where he received five pints of blood, Griffin is listed in critical condition.

Tractor Flips Killing Worker At Offutt Base

Omaha (UPI)—Dewey K. Clark, 47, Carter Lake, Iowa, was killed Wednesday when the tractor he was driving overturned and pinned him at the Capehart housing area at Offutt Air Force Base.

He was dead on arrival at base hospital.

Offutt officials said Clark was mowing grass on a 20-foot embankment when the tractor tipped over.

He was a Civil Service employee assigned to the roads and grounds section of the 3902nd civil engineering group.

He is survived by his wife and five children.

4-H Dairy Show Entries At Fair Nearing Record

The 4-H dairy show at the 1966 Nebraska State Fair Friday will have a near record number of competing entries.

The total of 354 dairy cattle from 28 Nebraska counties is only four under the record set at the 1965 Nebraska State Fair, according to P. H. Cole, University of Nebraska Extension dairyman.

This year's fair dairy show will see a new record number of 44 junior herds in competition, Cole said.

The ratio of entries in each breed division will be similar to former years: 14 Ayrshires, 49 Brown Swiss, 61 Guernseys, 182 Holsteins, 33 Jerseys, and 15 Milking Shorthorns.

Lady Bird Inspired New Table Rock Signs

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Table Rock — It was Lady Bird Johnson herself who flattered this town into its five new road signs.

Omaha, Lincoln and Grand Island ... she mentioned the state's three largest cities at her NebraskaLand appearance earlier this summer — and only one more. Little Table Rock was singled out for progress in dustless surfacing and its "new welcome signs."

"Her informant was absolutely right only he was a little early," grinned Mayor Floyd Vrtiska. "We had the idea and the materials, but not a word had been painted yet. We decided then it was time to get those signs up for sure."

Edw. Tomek, a 12-member delegation had journeyed to Lincoln for the first lady's address. The Community Betterment group was told it had "the best representation for its size in the state."

Five attractive signs now mark the entrances to the Pawnee County town (pop. 400), joint ventures of individual businessmen and the Community Club. Postmaster Edward Tomek heads the organization.

"There's only one thing wrong with these signs," chuckled the mayor. "After Mrs. Johnson's compliment, we should say something about being the state's No. 4 town."

Tipped off by the Nebraska Division of Resources that Table Rock might be men-

Callan's Bill Would Benefit Handicapped

Washington (AP)—Bills to improve federal programs to assist physically, mentally and emotionally handicapped persons were introduced in Congress Wednesday by Reps. Robert B. Duncan, D-Ore., and Clair A. Callan, D-Neb.

State Fair Week

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The State Fair grounds in Lincoln are already a beehive of activity and the action is due for an even sharper increase on Friday, opening day of the 1966 Nebraska State Fair. The fair has changed a lot over the years but still retains much of the basic appeal of times gone by. This is the appeal of something different and entertaining.

For participants in the fair, the competition is the thing — who can raise the best livestock and who is tops in the various categories of homemaking. For the average paid customer, the fair is more in the line of entertainment. There is professional entertainment on the stage, of course, with Tennessee Ernie Ford the headliner. His grandstand performances ought to pack them in as his musical and comedy routines are of high quality, free of the artificiality and sex that dominate so much of today's entertainment world under the guise of sophistication.

And there will be topnotch entertainers in the grandstand show with Ernie Ford. There is the standard bill of fare on the midway, too, with the usual thrill rides, games of chance and fast talking pitchmen. In this atmosphere you can sort of forget yourself and soak up a little more of things as they used to be.

How long has it been, for instance, since you have had cotton candy smeared from ear to ear? How long has it been since you have eaten a caramelized apple? How long has it been since an ice-cream cone has dripped down your chin in the heat and made your fingers sticky?

Everything these days is done in air-conditioning, even the eating of ice-cream cones. A dripping cone may not sound too inviting at first but it is a mark of the kind of abandon with which all of us lived as children. There was a day when the cone tasted wonderful in the hot afternoon sun and when we cared not a whit how much of it dripped down our chin or onto our fingers. The fingers could be licked clean and the chin could be wiped on the sleeve of our shirt. It doesn't sound very mannerly or clean to us now but there was a day when it just came naturally. And the last thing that bothered us was eating in public. We could walk down the street licking an ice-cream cone as though the world belonged to us. Now we have the idea that eating an ice cream cone in public is beneath our maturity.

You might think, too, that some of the thrill rides on the midway are for children, not adults. Consequently you are not about to be found on them. Fortunately, many people can always take their little children on some of the rides. Then, the adult isn't really riding for the fun of it but merely to fulfill his parental responsibility. Again, you can relax and forget some of the ordinary kinds of discipline that otherwise control you. It may have been a long time since your shoes have been filled with dust but you will be able to experience it again at the State Fair. If the grounds are not dusty, they will be muddy and that, too, would be a relatively new experience for many people.

And after walking the miles you would travel in seeing all there is at the fair, you would end up bone-weary and footsore. But that kind of exhaustion has an exhilaration to it that makes it a pleasant experience. You don't need to go so long and hard that you have a heart attack but it actually feels good to have fully spent your physical strength and energy.

In doing so, you will have had a grand time. You will have seen a variety of exhibits such as you have never seen before because they are gathered together at the State Fair in record numbers. From the latest farm equipment to the fanciest thing in urban living — all are found at the fair.

There are hogs, cattle, horses and sheep and fowl of all variety. There is the competition and showmanship of professional breeders as well as that of our farm youth who are the hope of the future. There are exhibits having to do with natural history, with game and fish, with many of the sciences, the arts and just about everything imaginable. If you can find nothing at the fair to interest or entertain you, you either know everything there is to know in the world, which is a little doubtful, or you have become old and uninterested before your time. And the "time" for that is never.

Too, the fair is the culmination of things for much of agriculture, despite the fact that it has been so broadened as to have many specific interests for all people. As a vital part of Nebraska, agriculture ought to be supported by your interest in and presence at the fair. The fair is an easy way of being a good citizen and enjoying it, too.

cost. In most instances, when that period ends, the structure is given to the industry. In many instances the investment does not contribute greatly toward public taxes because the title remains for a period of years with the city or county that built it. The industrial occupant also can charge a substantial amount of his lease payments as expense and thus save federal income tax.

The federal treasury is not greatly concerned with the tax write-offs within the state, but it is resenting the federal tax losses that are included in many of the deals.

The measures anticipated would end the tax exemption for public debt used to foster private business.

standards is found in older housing, not so much the new housing which is built to conform to modern standards. An ordinance that is not retroactive simply doesn't do a job because it leaves the major problem area untouched. It is many of the older living units with inadequate facilities that need to be improved or eliminated from the market.

As to provisions of the ordinance, it would be impossible to detail them, as they are of book quantity. Basically, the ordinance establishes minimum structural standards and details plumbing, electrical, ventilation and space requirements that must be met. Window area requirements, for instance, could not be met by some housing units now in use. The city should have a reasonable and fair code but that it needs one is without question.

Thus, there is nothing secret about the ordinance. As to the writer's question on retroactivity, the ordinance would eliminate the "grandfather clause" that now is contained in the existing standards document. Thus, the new ordinance, if adopted, would apply to all housing, regardless of when it was built.

This is really the heart of the new ordinance. The big problem in minimum

Secretary Rusk Playing Politics

WASHINGTON — The secret is now out as to why Secretary of State Dean Rusk is going all the way to South Dakota September 15 to dedicate Big Bend Dam, though Rusk is an expert on South Viet Nam, not South Dakota.

Inside reason is that Karl Mundt, the indefatigable, sometimes irrepressible Republican senator from South Dakota, is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and, as such, prevailed on Rusk to go. Mundt has supported Rusk's policies in South Viet Nam; now wants Rusk to support Republican politicians in South Dakota.

Rusk's trip will do exactly that, for the Republicans have now maneuvered so as to monopolize the TV time during Rusk's appearance, shoving Democrats to the sidelines.

Dams and their dedication have played a big part in South Dakota politics. In 1960, just before the Los Angeles Democratic Convention Sen. Lyndon Johnson came to South Dakota to turn the first shovel of dirt for building the same dam which will be completed and dedicated in September. At that time a Democratic governor, Ralph Herseth, was in office, and the Eisenhower administration, then going out of office, refused to send any bigwigs because it was election year and they didn't want to help the Democrats with publicity.

This time the situation is reversed, with a Democratic administration in Washington helping Republicans in South Dakota.

If you play an oboe, the best way to clean it is with bald eagle feathers. Sea gull feathers are too short and pheasant feathers are too weak.

The Bald Eagle Act, however, requires that all loose feathers be sent to Indian tribes for religious ceremonies, which interfered with Rebecca Stewart of Anchorage, who needed eagle feathers to clean her oboe.

Rebecca appealed to Sen. Bob Bartlett, D-Alaska, who in turn pleaded her case so eloquently to Interior Secretary Udall that he relented and Miss Stewart now has a special permit to collect and keep bald eagle feathers.

This week she reported to Sen. Bartlett that she has collected 42 eagle feathers and has sent some of them to the Chicago Symphony so its oboe players can also clean their instruments.

U.S. Should Have More Lady Medics

NEW YORK — Only eight per cent of the doctors in the U.S. are women. In Russia, women account for 70 per cent of the physician profession.

Dr. Mathilda Vashchak, woman doctor, U.S. citizen, wonders why.

"I suspect the most important element is poor advice from parents and advisors from high school on up. A girl in high school might want to enter medical school, but her parents will discourage her because it's too expensive and too hard. Her school advisors say, 'You don't want to be a doctor—you'll never get married and have a family, there'll be no time for fun.'"

"We live in a society that cherishes 'fun' and dreads the difficult. We ought to change this picture."

Dr. Vashchak knows our society all too well. In discussing "the maximum use of women's power" in the medical profession, as she sees it, the U.S. will be in the embarrassing position of being one of "the lowest users on earth." She is raising funds for a nationwide study on why this is so—and what can be done about it.

"I'm used to pushing women into things," says the petite gray-haired medic cheerfully, "because they deserve it. A mature woman in her 40s-plus is the most enthusiastic, sensitive and happiest worker in the world."

A specialist in the relatively new field of occupational medicine in industry, the doctor knows whereof she speaks. Her job is to take care of hundreds of persons who work for one of the nation's large pharmaceutical firms—"from preemployment physical exams, through annual check-ups, into retirement." She acts as family doctor and therapist to executives and assembly-line personnel, studying "the whole man or woman, from the moment he applies for employment till the day he retires"—and, as such, she has learned much.

"Man is a more complicated patient, at most times, because he worries about his job, the payments on car and home, illness troubles him immensely because he's afraid he can't keep up those payments and make his family happy."

"Younger women get sick often than other workers, probably because they're actually working two shifts. They've got their business, and they've got their children and housewife duties. They have a hard time, physically and psychologically."

"But women over 40—who've raised their families and are suddenly free to work for salaries—are the happiest and most dependable of employees. Their family duties are behind them, and they've found a whole new world. They love their jobs!"

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 53 and the doctor discovered glaucoma in my left eye. I had been having such things as severe headaches and irritability. He is going to check the condition in two months and start drops of some sort. This has had a terrible effect on me as I don't know anything about glaucoma except that I have read that it is a dread disease.

—MRS. E.C.

Untreated glaucoma is, truly, a disease to be dreaded, because ultimately it leads to blindness, and it still is one of the major causes of blindness in the world. So your concern is understandable.

However, this applies to the untreated case. With early treatment, it is no longer a dread disease. Eyesight can be saved. Glaucoma is an increase in pressure inside the eyeball. In time this pressure gradually destroys parts of the eye that are necessary for vision. At that stage, nothing can be done. (Glaucoma can occur in one eye or in both.)

When this build-up of pressure is detected soon, it is quite another story. "Drops" in the eyes are frequently sufficient to relieve the pressure and avert damage. If such medication fails, pressure still can be relieved by surgery. A small bit of the iris is removed, providing a sort of vent so pressure inside does not rise to harmful levels.

In your case it is evident that the trouble has been detected early, which explains why your doctor wants you to return in two months. Otherwise he would have started treatment at once. Instead, it is likely that the pressure was perhaps only marginally elevated.

There are many varieties of glaucoma: Acute, chronic, progressing rather rapidly or extremely slowly, some painful, some not, some with different kinds of visual disturbance.

In any type, early treatment is effective although the precise method may vary to some extent technically.

The point of universal importance is this: Since the condition can develop without pain or indeed any symptom you may notice, the sure way of finding it early is to measure the pressure, or tension, of the eyeball surface.

This can be readily done with an instrument called a tonometer, and is becoming almost routine when a vision or eye problem develops, including eye pain, headache, distorted vision, halos or flashes.

Since the tonometer test is not difficult, the ideal course would be for everyone over 40 or so to have the pressure tested periodically even with no symptoms whatever.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you explain a subdural hematoma? My granddaughter, aged two months, has been in the hospital since she was two weeks old. They tapped her head and are now draining the area.

—MRS. L.B.

It means an accumulation of blood (the hematoma) under the lining of the brain (signified by subdural). It can result from certain pressures on the head during the birth process, or from injuries to the head after birth. Treatment requires skill of a high order, yet neurosurgeons these days are correcting defects even more formidable than this.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been plagued with hives for two months and the only reason I can think of is that I tried a diet calling for eating grapefruit daily for two weeks. It seems as if I break out only after I have had citric acid. Two doctors have given me shots and prescriptions which help but only temporarily. Last night I had a sandwich with a slice of tomato, and today

I have hives again. How long does it take an allergy to leave the system?

—P.C.

The allergy may or may not go away, ever. Once it becomes sensitized to a substance, it can take some time for the body to regain a tolerance — if it ever does. I have two suggestions: First, see an allergist for tests to determine whether citrus fruit and tomatoes are the real cause of your allergy, after which he can decide what treatment will help.

Second, don't eat things that appear to be troubling you.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our son, 29 years old, has a pulse rate of 60. Both my husband and I have one of 70. We are a little past 60 years old. Does this difference in rate mean anything?

—MRS. A.S.

Both rates are normal at any age. The average pulse rate is in the mid-70's, but can range from 55 to 90 and still be normal. Pulse rate must be interpreted in relation to other factors which an examination discloses — including the personality, nervous or otherwise — of the patient.

—F.M.

Carrots (along with a great many other foods) contain carotene, a forerunner of Vitamin A. We all need Vitamin A, and except under most unusual circumstances, we all get it. An extreme lack of it can interfere with night vision, in which case, naturally, Vitamin A helps correct the trouble. But for anyone eating an anywhere-near-normal diet, a surplus of carrots, or other forms of Vitamin A, won't do the eyes any good.

Proposed Changes

Lincoln, Neb.

A recent Star item sounded a disquieting note relative to proposed changes in our housing code. Will you or a knowledgeable reader explain what changes are being discussed in these private sessions?

Also, under our new legal interpretations, can a new code be enforced retroactive to our 1954 housing code? If so, property owners had better wake up.

Price Of Rides

Lincoln, Neb.

It is clear that the City Council is interested only in its own political gains when they ask the City Bus Lines (a profit making organization) to lower bus fares for school children and yet charge exorbitant admissions at the Children's Zoo—a donation by the people, for the people.

We don't defend the rising rates, but assuming the 20-cent bus fares are correct, then the 15-cent train ride at the zoo is way out of proportion when the length of the two rides are compared.

Tax Hikes

Lincoln, Neb.

I was very pleased to read that the Lancaster County commissioners unanimously decided to appeal the hilarious hikes imposed upon Lincoln real estate by the Nebraska Board of Equalization.

Since both Omaha and Douglas County are also appealing their valuation hikes, we will be advantaged by having the largest taxpayer in the state making similar objection to these increases.

Quite obviously these hilarious hikes, as manipulated by a data processing system, are about as fantastic as riding a 1965 real estate tax receipt to the moon.

LEO N. BARTUNEK

Our Own

Lincoln, Neb.

Words cannot begin to express my shock and disappointment upon reading that Nebraska's Senator Roman Hruska would be a part of the questionable conduct prevalent in the Senate currently.

If a senator is on official government business in Florida, that is fine, beyond rebuke; however, when the senator finds it necessary to establish offices in a plush Miami Beach hotel rather than in the freely provided Federal Office Building, it is a "peculiar situation." One wonders how effective an investigation can be conducted from such surroundings.

It is fine to push for and build modern well furnished federal buildings, but wouldn't it be wisest to utilize these structures once they are constructed?

Perhaps we Nebraskans should stop shaking our heads at the antics of eastern politicians and take time to examine our own backyard.

DAVID S. HABR

Church's Role

Omaha, Neb.

Should the pulpit speak out on political and other social issues? I say "no." In Jesus' day, He was asked if they should pay taxes to Rome. The reply: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

When I stated my faith in Jesus Christ, I was not asked to subscribe to any political or social view. To commit the Christian church as a body to controversial positions upon which its members are divided is to divide Christ's church.

However, action to correct existing ills in the secular society should be taken through secular organizations. I would not deny the pulpit's right to speak out where moral and spiritual values are involved.

Communism and even the welfare state are attempting to change man's heart by first changing his environment. The church's goal should be to first change man's heart and then his environment will automatically change.

Everyone says he believes in separation of church and state. So let the church stay out of controversial concerns such as labor relations, politics, the United Nations, disarmament, foreign policy, etc. The church should stick to "thus saith the Lord," and teach us the mind of Christ.

Boarding Youngsters Can Be Fun, Profitable

By ROBERT PETERSON

A money-making idea going begging in most communities is that of boarding small children while their parents are away. I've had several letters from parents saying they don't know where to turn when they need to park their youngsters with someone responsible for a week or more while taking a trip or vacation. Families seeking ways of supplementing income should let neighbors know of their availability to board children.

I know from personal experience there's a need for this kind of service. Years ago when our first-born was still a baby my wife caught a miserable cold which hung on for weeks. The doctor suggested that a sojourn in the Arizona sun might help. We were living in a community of 50,000 people and, though we made verbal inquiries for days, couldn't find a guardian angel interested in taking the baby for two weeks.

A friend finally talked her retired parents into taking the job. So we carted the baby bed, tub, bottles, sterilizer, and diapers to their house and paid them $7 a day to watch over our little one. They made $100 in the next two weeks and apparently enjoyed the experience for they took it up as a regular retirement avocation. We later learned they earned enough the first year to trade in their old car on a brand new automobile.

A retired couple in my community used to live in an old-fashioned, nine-room house. It was chock full of antique furnishings and bric-a-brac which the couple had collected during their 40 years of married life and which they were saving for their children. When I heard they had moved to a small apartment I phoned to ask what happened.

"We did it," said the wife, "after asking an antique dealer where he got most of his things. He said, 'Usually after some old person passes on - the children call us and ask what we'll give for the junk.'"

"So we've saved our children the trouble. They live in modern homes and couldn't care less about ladder-back chairs, chifferobes, Victorian sofas, and brass beds. So we sold the furnishings piece-by-piece at the best possible price, and then sold the house. And now we intend to enjoy ourselves with the money. We've moved into a four-room apartment with fresh, new furniture, bought a new car, and next month we're leaving with another retired couple for an auto trip through Mexico."

A lot of elders distort and complicate their later years by hanging on to personal treasures destined to be regarded as junk by those who inherit it. I suspect we'd all be wiser if we sifted through the material accumulations of our lifetime and turned them into cash and new experiences—unless we're quite sure they will be cherished by those we leave behind.

Harry Hirschfeld tells of two old cronies having a drink. One lifted his glass in a toast and said, "I hope you live to be 100 years and 30 days old." His friend asked what the 30 days was for. "I wouldn't want that you should die suddenly," replied his friend.

He said private and public universities and colleges in the state will be given an opportunity to provide technical services, mainly through academic programs in engineering, business administration or science.

He said representatives of business, industry and education will be invited to form an advisory council for the technical services program.

Plan Revealed For Technical Services Center

A University of Nebraska official said Wednesday it is hoped a state technical services center will be established for Nebraska business and industry.

Dr. George Shrader, who is developing a five-year plan for Nebraska's participation in the Federal Technical Services Act, said such a center could coordinate the dissemination of scientific, technological and managerial information.

He said private and public universities and colleges in the state will be given an opportunity to provide technical services, mainly through academic programs in engineering, business administration or science.

He said representatives of business, industry and education will be invited to form an advisory council for the technical services program.

Fortunately, many people can always take their little children on some of the rides. Then, the adult isn't really riding for the fun of it but merely to fulfill his parental responsibility. Again, you can relax and forget some of the ordinary kinds of discipline that otherwise control you. It may have been a long time since your shoes have been filled with dust but you will be able to experience it again at the State Fair. If the grounds are not dusty, they will be muddy and that, too, would be a relatively new experience for many people.

And after walking the miles you would travel in seeing all there is at the fair, you would end up bone-weary and footsore. But that kind of exhaustion has an exhilaration to it that makes it a pleasant experience. You don't need to go so long and hard that you have a heart attack but it actually feels good to have fully spent your physical strength and energy.

In doing so, you will have had a grand time. You will have seen a variety of exhibits such as you have never seen before because they are gathered together at the State Fair in record numbers. From the latest farm equipment to the fanciest thing in urban living — all are found at the fair.

There are hogs, cattle, horses and sheep and fowl of all variety. There is the competition and showmanship of professional breeders as well as that of our farm youth who are the hope of the future. There are exhibits having to do with natural history, with game and fish, with many of the sciences, the arts and just about everything imaginable. If you can find nothing at the fair to interest or entertain you, you either know everything there is to know in the world, which is a little doubtful, or you have become old and uninterested before your time. And the "time" for that is never.

Too, the fair is the culmination of things for much of agriculture, despite the fact that it has been so broadened as to have many specific interests for all people. As a vital part of Nebraska, agriculture ought to be supported by your interest in and presence at the fair. The fair is an easy way of being a good citizen and enjoying it, too.

Something For Everyone

DREW PEARSON Secretary Rusk Playing Politics

WASHINGTON — The secret is now out as to why Secretary of State Dean Rusk is going all the way to South Dakota September 15 to dedicate Big Bend Dam, though Rusk is an expert on South Viet Nam, not South Dakota. Inside reason is that Karl Mundt, the indefatigable, sometimes irrepresible Republican senator from South Dakota, is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and, as such, prevailed on Rusk to go. Mundt has supported Rusk's policies in South Viet Nam; now wants Rusk to support Republican politicians in South Dakota.

Rusk's trip will do exactly that, for the Republicans have now maneuvered so as to monopolize the TV time during Rusk's appearance, shoving Democrats to the sidelines.

Dams and their dedication have played a big part in South Dakota politics. In 1960, just before the Los Angeles Democratic Convention Sen. Lyndon Johnson came to South Dakota to turn the first shovel of dirt for building the same dam which will be completed and dedicated in September. At that time a Democratic governor, Ralph Hersey, was in office, and the Eisenhower administration, painful, some not, some with different kinds of visual disturbance. In any type, early treatment is effective although the precise method may vary to some extent technically. The point of universal importance is this: Since the condition can develop without pain or indeed any symptom you may notice, the sure way of finding it early is to measure the pressure, or tension, of the eyeball surface. This can be readily done with an instrument called a tonometer, and is becoming almost routine when a vision or eye problem develops, including eye pain, headache, distorted vision, halos or flashes. Since the tonometer test is not difficult, the ideal course would be for everyone over 40 or so to have the pressure tested periodically even with no symptoms whatever.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 33 and the doctor discovered glaucoma in my left eye. I had been having such things as severe headaches and irritability. He is going to check the condition in two months and start drops of some sort. This has had a terrible effect on me as I don't know anything about glaucoma except that I have read that it is a dread disease.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you explain a subdural hematoma? My granddaughter, aged two months, has been in the hospital since she was two weeks old. They tapped her head and are now draining the area.

It means an accumulation of blood (the hematoma) under the lining of the brain (signified by subdural). It can result from certain pressures on the head during the birth process, or from injuries to the head after birth. Treatment requires skill of a high order, yet neurosurgeons these days are correcting defects even more formidable than this.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been plagued with hives for two months and the only reason I can think of is that I tried a diet calling for eating grapefruit daily for two weeks. It seems as if I break out only after I have had citric acid. Two doctors have given me shots and prescriptions which help but only temporarily. Last night I had a sandwich with a slice of tomato, and today

I have hives again long does it take us to leave the system? The allergy may not go away, ever. becomes sensitized to stance, it can take time for the body to a tolerance — if it ever I have two suggestions. Fun About Over

It looks as though the fun is about over for the revenue-bond-supported industrial tracts.

According to both the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal, the U.S. Treasury Department is preparing legislation to eliminate the tax gimmicks in such tracts.

Under the Nebraska law, passed a few years ago in response to the industrial development urge, cities or counties could issue revenue bonds, which are tax-free, to acquire land sites and build buildings for industry.

The structures are built to a design satisfactory to the industry and then leased by the public builder at an annual figure which, in a given number of years, will amount to the interest and construction cost. In most instances, when that period ends, the structure is given to the industry.

In many instances the investment does not contribute greatly toward public taxes because the title remains for a period of years with the city or county that built it. The industrial occupant also can charge a substantial amount of his lease payments as expense and thus save federal income tax.

The federal treasury is not greatly concerned with the tax write-offs within the state, but it is resenting the federal tax losses that are included in many of the deals.

The measures anticipated would end the tax exemption for public debt used to foster private business.

New Housing Code

A writer in today's letters column inquires in regard to the proposed new minimum standards housing ordinance for Lincoln. It is suggested in the letter that the new ordinance is being prepared in "private sessions." Actually, the ordinance has been openly discussed a great many times, stories have frequently appeared in the press in regard to it and copies of the document are on file at the City Hall where they can be viewed by anyone.

Thus, there is nothing secret about the ordinance. As to the writer's question on retroactivity, the ordinance would eliminate the "grandfather clause" that now is contained in the existing standards document. Thus, the new ordinance, if adopted, would apply to all housing, regardless of when it was built.

This is really the heart of the new ordinance. The big problem in minimum standards is found in older housing, not so much the new housing which is built to conform to modern standards. An ordinance that is not retroactive simply doesn't do a job because it leaves the major problem area untouched. It is many of the older living units with inadequate facilities that need to be improved or eliminated from the market.

As to provisions of the ordinance, it would be impossible to detail them, as they are of book quantity. Basically, the ordinance establishes minimum structural standards and details plumbing, electrical, ventilation and space requirements that must be met. Window area requirements, for instance, could not be met by some housing units now in use. The city should have a reasonable and fair code but that it needs one is without question.

JOHN WEYLAND

Warren Report Banned In Russia

MOSCOW — The Soviet government has forbidden the distribution here of the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the U.S. Embassy reported Wednesday. An embassy spokesman said that the Soviet Foreign Ministry described the Warren report as "slandorous to the Soviet people." The Ministry itself maintained silence.

There was speculation that the ban was imposed because the Warren Commission's version of the assassination conflicts with a version often presented in the Soviet press—that the president was killed by a right-wing conspiracy of "Texas oil barons."

It was also understood that the Soviet government objected to the inclusion in the Warren reports of comments by Lee Harvey Oswald on his life in the Soviet Union. Oswald had returned to the United States, saying he was disillusioned with Soviet communism. He brought back a Russian wife.

U.S. Minister-Counselor John C. Guthrie was called to the Foreign Ministry Aug. 24 and informed of the ban on the Warren report, translated into Russian. He said that the U.S. government had been distributing it so the Soviet people here could form an accurate opinion of the circumstances of the assassination in Dallas.

Washington sent Guthrie back to the Foreign Ministry Monday to express regret on the ban. He argued that the U.S. government has permitted circulation in the United States of Soviet publications and asked for reconsideration of the ban. But an embassy spokesman said there seemed little chance of this.

During his second appearance at the Foreign Ministry Guthrie also protested a new article in the Soviet press claiming Kennedy was killed in a conspiracy. Distributed By Associated Press

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

U.S. Should Have More Lady Medics

NEW YORK — Only eight per cent of the doctors in the U.S. are women. In Russia, women account for 70 per cent of the physician profession.

Dr. Mathilda Vaschak, woman doctor, U.S. citizen, wonders why. "I suspect the most important element is poor advice from parents and advisors from high school on up. A girl in high school might want to enter medical school, but her parents will discourage her because it's too expensive and too 'hard.' Her school advisors say, 'You don't want to be a doctor—you'll never get married and have a family, there'll be no time for fun.'"

"We live in a society that cherishes 'fun' and dreads the difficult. We ought to change this picture." Dr. Vaschak knows our society all too well. In discussing "the maximum use of women's power" in the medical profession, as she sees it, the U.S. will be in the embarrassing position of being one of "the lowest users on earth." She is raising funds for a nationwide study on why this is so—and what can be done about it.

"I'm used to pushing women into things," says the petite gray-haired medic cheerfully, "because they deserve it. A mature woman in her 40s-plus is the most enthusiastic, sensitive and happiest worker in the world." A specialist in the relatively new field of occupational medicine in industry, the doctor knows whereof she speaks. Her job is to take care of hundreds of persons who work for one of the nation's large pharmaceutical firms—"from preemployment physical exams, through annual check-ups, into retirement." She acts as family doctor and therapist to executives and assembly-line personnel, studying "the whole man or woman, from the moment he applies for employment till the day he retires"—and, as such, she has learned much:

"Man is a more complicated patient, at most times, because he worries about his job, the payments on car and home, illness troubles him immensely because he's afraid he can't keep up those payments and make his family happy. "Younger women get sick often than other workers, probably because they're actually working two shifts. They've got their business, and they've got their children and housewife duties. They have a hard time, physically and psychologically."

"But women over 40—who've raised their families and are suddenly free to work for salaries—are the happiest and most dependable of employees. Their family duties are behind them, and they've found a whole new world. They love their jobs!"

Through many years of pressuring her bosses, Dr. Vaschak has finally had her philosophy accepted. More and more industrial firms, she believes, are discovering the truth of her theory, are lowering their prejudices, and are welcoming the middle-aged woman onto the payroll.

Proposed Changes

Lincoln, Neb. A recent Star item sounded a disquieting note relative to proposed changes in our housing code. Will you or a knowledgeable reader explain what changes are being discussed in these private sessions?

Also, under our new legal interpretations, can a new code be enforced retroactive to our 1954 housing code? If so, property owners had better wake up.

Editor's Note: See today's Star editorial, "New Housing Code," on this page.

Price Of Rides

Lincoln, Neb. It is clear that the City Council is interested only in its own political gains when they ask the City Bus Lines (a profit making organization) to lower bus fares for school children and yet charge exorbitant admissions at the Children's Zoo—a donation by the people, for the people.

We don't defend the rising rates, but assuming the 20-cent bus fares are correct, then the 15-cent train ride at the zoo is way out of proportion when the length of the two rides are compared.

Tax Hikes

Lincoln, Neb. I was very pleased to read that the Lancaster County commissioners unanimously decided to appeal the hilarious hikes imposed upon Lincoln real estate by the Nebraska Board of Equalization.

Since both Omaha and Douglas County are also appealing their valuation hikes, we will be advantaged by having the largest taxpayer in the state making similar objection to these increases.

Quite obviously these hilarious hikes, as manipulated by a data processing system, are about as fantastic as riding a 1965 real estate tax receipt to the moon.

To commit Christian church as a to controversial position upon which its member divided is to divide Church. However, action to correct existing ills in the secular society should be taken through a secular organization would not deny the right to speak out where al and spiritual values involved. Communism and ever welfare state are attempt to change man's heart, first changing his environment. The church's should be to first change man's heart and then his environment will automatically change. Everyone says he believes in separation of church and state. So let the church out of controversial concerns such as labor relations, armament, foreign policy etc. The church should teach us the mind of Christ. DONALD BRANN

Boarding Youngsters Can Be Fun, Profitable

By ROBERT PETERSON

A money-making idea going begging in most communities is that of boarding small children while their parents are away. I've had several letters from parents saying they don't know where to turn when they need to park their youngsters with someone responsible for a week or more while taking a trip or vacation. Families seeking ways of supplementing income should let neighbors know of their availability to board children.

I know from personal experience there's a need for this kind of service. Years ago when our first-born was still a baby my wife caught a miserable cold which hung on for weeks. The doctor suggested that a sojourn in the Arizona sun might help. We were living in a community of 50,000 people and, though we made verbal inquiries for days, couldn't find a guardian angel interested in taking the baby for two weeks.

A friend finally talked her retired parents into taking the job. So we carted the baby bed, tub, bottles, sterilizer, and diapers to their house and paid them $7 a day to watch over our little one. They made $100 in the next two weeks and apparently enjoyed the experience for they took it up as a regular retirement avocation. We later learned they earned enough the first year to trade in their old car on a brand new automobile.

A retired couple in my community used to live in an old-fashioned, nine-room house. It was chock full of antique furnishings and bric-a-brac which the couple had collected during their 40 years of married life and which they were saving for their children. When I heard they had moved to a small apartment I phoned to ask what happened.

"We did it," said the wife, "after asking an antique dealer where he got most of his things. He said, 'Usually after some old person passes on — the children call us and ask what we'll give for the junk.'"

"So we've saved our children the trouble. They live in modern homes and couldn't care less about ladder-back chairs, chiffoniers, Victorian sofas, and brass beds. So we sold the furnishings piece-by-piece at the best possible price, and then sold the house. And now we intend to enjoy ourselves with the money. We've moved into a four-room apartment with fresh, new furniture, bought a new car, and next month we're leaving with another retired couple for an auto trip through Mexico."

A lot of elders distort and complicate their later years by hanging on to personal treasures destined to be regarded as junk by those who inherit it. I suspect we'd all be wiser if we sifted through the material accumulations of our lifetime and turned them into cash and new experiences—unless we're quite sure they will be cherished by those we leave behind.

Harry Hirschfeld tells of two old cronies having a drink. One lifted his glass in a toast and said, "I hope you live to be 100 years and 30 days old." His friend asked what the 30 days was for. "I wouldn't want that you should die suddenly," replied his friend.

If you would like a booklet "Time on Stretching Retirement Income" write to Robert Peterson, Life Begins at Forty, c/o The Lincoln Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Plan Revealed For Technical Services Center

A University of Nebraska official said Wednesday it is hoped a state technical services center will be established for Nebraska business and industry.

Dr. George Shrader, who is developing a five-year plan for Nebraska's participation in the Federal Technical Services Act, said such a center could coordinate the dissemination of scientific, technological and managerial information.

He said private and public universities and colleges in the state will be given an opportunity to provide technical services, mainly through academic programs in engineering, business administration or science.

He said representatives of business, industry and education will be invited to form an advisory council for the technical services program.

AFL-CIO Farm Workers Hail 'Win' Over Teamsters

Delano, Calif. (AP)—AFL-CIO farm workers burst into a noisy celebration Wednesday at reports from their own observers they had beaten the Teamsters in the first agricultural union representation election in the nation.

Officially the vote by 1,339 farmhands Tuesday was still snarled by 332 challenged ballots.

But AFL-CIO observers of the count in the American Arbitration Association in San Francisco reported the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee had won representation for field workers on the nearby Di Giorgio Corp. Sierra Vista grape ranch and the Teamsters were chosen to speak for the smaller group of shed workers.

Their vote count, which an AFL-CIO spokesman said was announced through a misunderstanding, broke down like this:

Equity Union Grain Seeking Refund Of Federal Taxes

A Lincoln firm, Equity Union Grain Co., Wednesday filed a suit in U.S. District Court asking for a refund of almost $60,000 for the alleged overpayment of federal income taxes.

The action concerns taxes paid the government for fiscal 1959 and 1960, when the firm said it filed its income tax returns for the years in question, each showing a tax due "which tax was paid concurrent with the filing of the return."

Morrison OKs 13 More VISTA People To Omaha

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Thursday his approval of the assignment of 13 additional VISTA volunteers to the Omaha area.

They will join the 14 volunteers already assigned to Holy Family Parish Inc. of Omaha as family and job counselors to the city's poor and deprived.

Staff members of the Area Resource Project will supervise the volunteers, who will also serve as liaisons with existing welfare services.

"thereafter the defendant illegally and erroneously assessed against the plaintiff an additional alleged deficiency of income taxes which were based, in part, upon a disallowance of the allocation of certain revenues as patronage refunds."

Amended returns were filed, the complaint said, but claims for refunds were disallowed except to the extent of $372.56 for 1959 and $728.99 for 1960.

Equity Union alleges that the government still owes the firm refunds amounting to $25,911.91 for 1959 and $33,837 for 1960.

The complaint alleged that the claims for refund were based on the grounds that Equity Union had properly completed all acts necessary to constitute the amount of the reserves as excludable patronage refunds under the Internal Revenue Act.

"No portion of the sums or interest has been refunded and no legal offsets or credits exist with respect to the sums," it added.

A jury trial in Lincoln was requested.

Equity Union Grain Co. has its principal office in Lincoln and a branch in Kansas City, Mo.

Field workers: 528 for the UFWOC, 328 for the Teamsters and 12 for no union.

Shed workers: 94 for the Teamsters, 45 for the UFWOC and 7 for no union.

Officially there was no breakdown of the vote. In San Francisco, arbitrator Sam Kugel said the result would not be known or announced until the 332 challenged ballots were checked out. He said this would be at least two days, possibly a week or longer.

William Kirscher, national director of organizing for the AFL-CIO, called the handling of the announcement in San Francisco "stupid, bungling and utterly ridiculous."

Channels 10-11, Church Council To Try Shows

The Nebraska Council of Churches and Lincoln-Grand Island television station KOLN-KGIN Wednesday disclosed plans for extensive religious broadcasting on an experimental basis.

A James Ebel, general manager of the station, and the Rev. Carroll H. Lemon of Lincoln, executive secretary of the council, announced formation of the Mid-Lands Television Ministry.

The Rev. Dale C. Holt, a minister of the Lutheran Church in America, has been named director of the ministry. He said he hopes other television stations will join later.

Plea Of Guilty Entered In July Robbery Attempt

Harry E. Robbins 25, of Greenwood, pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to assault with intent to commit robbery in connection with a July 29 incident at the Sky-lane Cafe at 5600 Cornhusker.

Robbins and his companion, Shirley Havener, 34, were arrested after they had reportedly given a cafe waitress a note demanding money. When the waitress refused to comply, the pair left.

Miss Havener, who is charged with aiding and abetting Robbins, has not entered a plea in District Court.

Disturbing Peace Pleas Changed In County Court

Several persons who entered innocent pleas earlier to disturbing the peace charges filed in connection with a beer party held on the property of the Bruning Co. have changed their plea in Lancaster County Court.

Those who were arrested for being there and pleaded guilty were fined $25 and those who drove cars to the premises were fined $35 by Judge Ralph Slocum.

Several cars had pulled in across the Bruning grounds, damaging sod and had parked by a lake on company property when the occupants were arrested.

Education Becomes More Expensive Every Year

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON
Each year, education becomes more expensive. It costs the taxpayers more and it costs individual families more.
Limited school budgets have resulted in larger-sized classes. Further moves in this direction would result in drastically reduced pupil achievement, if not a complete breakdown of the system.
From four or five students around a table in the home in what was referred to as the Dame's School, 25 is now a usual enrollment in a primary classroom. Often there are many more.
The possibility of individual attention, so necessary to the proper development of a primary child, has consequently diminished with the years. However, there are moves being made to reverse the trend. This will, of course, add to the cost.

At the other end of the educational ladder, university costs have risen even more rapidly, causing concern both to taxpayers and parents.
Too High
Three senior professors at Indiana University devoted a full year to the critical self-study of the university in all of its aspects. They found that, each year, the average student at Indiana University spends about $1600 for fees, books, room and board and incidental expenses. Although this is close to the average for comparable state colleges and universities, it is thought to be too high.

In the opinion of these professors, college costs are becoming a financial burden so great that a tragically large number of potential students are afraid to shoulder it.
These costs can be justified because they represent an investment with a potential high return to the student.

But the return to the state and nation is so tremendous that a good case can be made for putting the full cost of higher education upon the community, to be paid through taxation.
There is no doubt of the value of an educated citizenry to the nation. Economists have estimated that 40% of the growth of the nation's gross national product (the value of all goods produced and services rendered) in recent decades has been a direct result of better education.
"We recommend hastening the day when tuitions will be free," was a major part of the professors' report.
In my opinion, this goes too far in shifting the burden from the individual to the taxpayer. I have found that students who must pay me for counseling services appreciate, and follow, my advice. Students who pay some part of the cost will have greater appreciation for the education that will bring them higher salaries and greater prestige.
The Council of State Governments estimates operating expenditures for public elementary and secondary schools in 1970 will be almost double that spent in 1962, about $27.7 billion. An additional $3.3 billion would be spent on capital outlay.
Considerable extension of traditional educational services is in the offing. Such an extension would be designed to meet the nation's need for scientific and technical personnel. It is predicted that the pattern of financing the operation of local schools will shift as a consequence. By 1970, federal payment for local schools is projected to grow from a figure equaling five per cent of total school funds to one equaling more than 15%.

Drivers Advised To Keep In Step With Traffic Flow

Col. Dan Casey, chief of the State Safety Patrol, said Wednesday motorists can not "beat" Labor Day weekend traffic so they should "join" it.

"The volume of today's traffic demands that every driver keep in step with the traffic flow," Col. Casey said. "Be adaptable—get the 'feel' of changing traffic, road and weather conditions, and then adjust your speed accordingly."

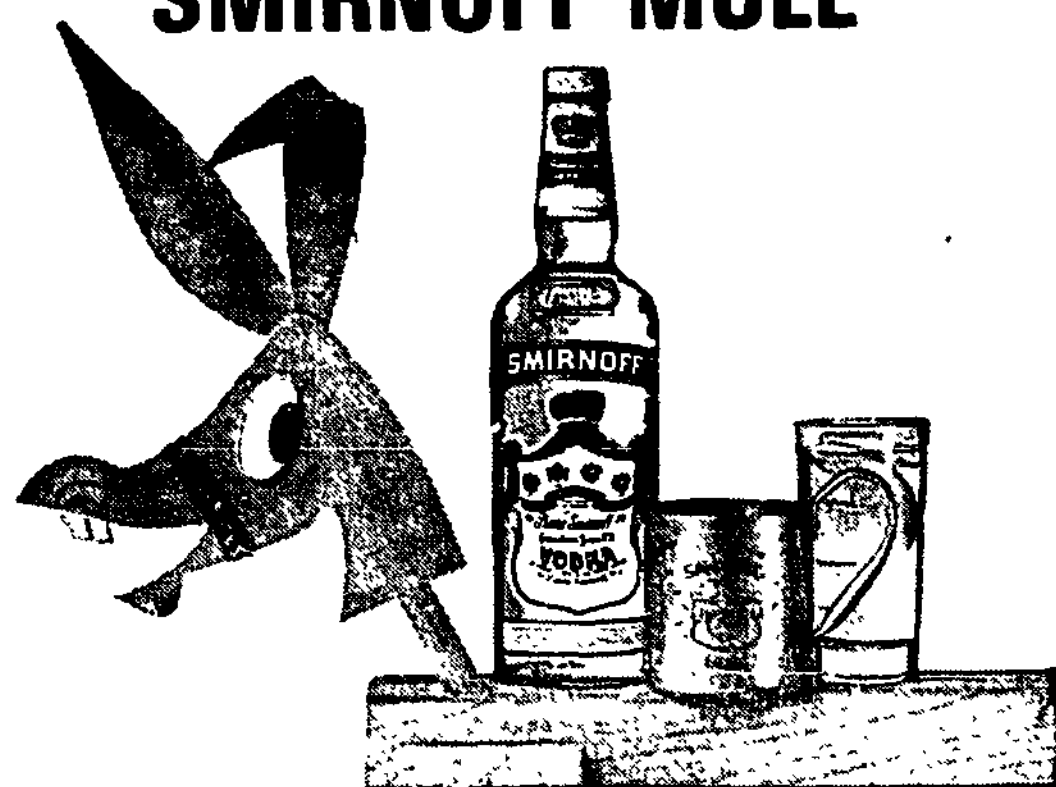

He said the Labor Day weekend traffic accident rate would be reduced "if each motorist would pace himself with the other traffic, keep in the proper lane and pass only when there is ample time and space."

Five persons were killed in Nebraska traffic accidents during last year's Labor Day weekend.

Desegregation Guides Set For Nursing Homes

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Public Health Service set down a series of desegregation guidelines for all nursing homes participating in medical care.
Robert M. Nash, chief of the Office of Equal Health Opportunities, said representatives of his office would be sent throughout the nation during the next few months to determine which homes were in compliance with the guidelines.
Failure to comply with the federal standards, Nash said, would result in the withdrawal of federal funds.
Nursing homes become eligible for Medicare money Jan. 1, 1967.

Regional School For Vets Urged

... By Dr. Payne

A pattern for the training of veterinarians in a regional school serving the needs of several states has been suggested by a University of Nebraska Department of Veterinary Science staff member.

The suggestion was made by Dr. L. C. Payne in a paper prepared for presentation at a meeting of veterinary science educators at Lansing, Mich.

"One of the problems we are facing is the growing need for veterinarians," Dr. Payne said. "Perhaps the logical answer to this is the development of more schools. I feel it is time we ignore state boundaries and start thinking in terms of regional schools."

He suggested that the states of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, New Mexico, and Arizona develop a single regional school of veterinary medicine. The number of students selected from each state and the cost to each state represented would be determined on a per capita basis of the state's population, under Payne's proposal. The idea for such a regional school also was contained in a paper he presented to deans of veterinary medicine from around the country in 1963, Dr. Payne recalled.

Nebraska sent a total of 65 pre-veterinary students to neighboring state schools of veterinary medicine in 1965-66. The difference in their resident and out-of-state tuition was paid by state funds.

Nebraska doesn't have a school of veterinary medicine because "we cannot afford the five or six million dollars required to establish a good school, and the cost of operation," Dr. Payne stated.

He also proposed shortening the time required for studies in a school of veterinary medicine by eliminating both years of pre-professional college courses. Prerequisites for a student interested in veterinary medicine would be taken at the high school level.

WE Annexation Vote Is Delayed

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha City Council has delayed until Nov. 8 a vote on annexing the Western Electric plant west of Omaha. The vote was unanimous Tuesday.

It was explained that this would give Douglas County time to act on the firm's application to have the tract designated as an industrial park. Under this proposal, the park could not be annexed by Millard without the firm's consent.

Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Here!

Over 200,000 Successful Graduates

World's Largest Reading School To Hold Fall Classes In Lincoln & Omaha

Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics is now the largest school of its kind in the world. It was announced by Carl Peterson, Regional Director.

"In the Midwestern area," said Peterson, "We have had over 9000 students during 1966."

The region has grown to six permanent institutes located in Colorado Springs, Wichita, Ft. Collins, Albuquerque, Kansas City and Denver, which employs 25 teachers and supporting personnel.

The Institutes will send teachers to hold classes in any city or for any school that expresses a strong interest in having the program, and also will supply teachers for in-plant courses.

Many dramatic changes have been affected in all phases of the school activity. A new guarantee has been instituted, promising to triple the student's reading speed or refund his tuition.

In the last year, after several years of research and experimentation by Evelyn Wood, a whole new training program was instituted, giving improved results, with heavy emphasis on technical reading and study techniques. As a result of these new methods, the average graduate is now reading faster than 1,500 words per minute; less than 2% of the students have requested a refund under terms of the guarantee.

Carl Peterson, Regional Director

Peterson said the fall series of classes in Lincoln would begin Sept. 18. Once the student has graduated he becomes a lifetime member and is entitled to continuation and refresher courses in Lincoln and/or at any Reading Dynamics Institute throughout the Country.

Reading Machines Obsolete

One of the major problems to be faced by the teacher of fast reading, when the method is machine oriented, is that most students lose the acquired skill shortly after leaving the course. The machine provides a pacer for the student, forcing him to move faster, but when the machine is no longer available, the student tends to revert to his previous reading patterns. The Wood Method teaches the student to use his hand as a pacer, guiding his eyes rapidly down the page, and as his pacer is always with him, he can retain and improve upon his acquired skill.

School Teacher Discovers New Reading Technique

"I didn't invent fast reading, I just discovered it." These words of Evelyn Wood sum up the history of development of the Wood method. It was Mrs. Wood's discovery, 20 years ago, of the 6,000-word-per-minute reading speed of her professor at the University of Utah that triggered today's overwhelming interest in fast reading.

Mrs. Wood's curiosity caused her to look for other exceptional readers and over the next few years, she found 50 people who could read faster than 1500 words per minute, with fine comprehension, outstanding recall and great satisfaction in reading.

She was now sure it was possible to read faster than anyone had thought, but the question of how these people did it was not yet answered. It took 18 years of toil and research, working with "natural" fast readers, before she began to find the answers. Her quest led her to experiment with students at the Jordan High School in Jordan, Utah, where she was the English teacher and girl's counselor. Eventually a technique was developed whereby the average student was able to learn to read 3 to 10 times faster. She taught her method at the University of Utah for three years, refining it even further. Further studies were conducted at the University of Delaware, and the first Reading Dynamics Institute was opened in Washington, D.C. in September, 1959. Since that time Institutes have been opened all over the country, and many authorities have accepted the method. Says Mrs. Wood, "I would rather teach young people to read like lightning than anything I can think of."

Evelyn Wood, Founder of Reading Dynamics

LEADING CORPORATIONS ENROLL EMPLOYEES FOR CLASS INSTRUCTION

"Send me a man who reads," said the International Paper Company in a famous series of public service ads, and many of the country's leading corporations agree. The sheer volume of reading material that must be mastered in a typical work day can swamp the average executive or professional man.

PAPER BARRIER
Many companies, large and small, have availed themselves of the services of the Reading Dynamics Institute, to help them crack the "paper barrier." Companies like Bendix, Boeing Aircraft, Gen-

CU Student Reads 750 Books in 4 Months

Carl Denver Warren, 21-year-old student from Aurora, Colorado, has put his new reading skills to good use since enrolling in the Reading Dynamics course. Carl has been studying organic chemistry and calculus part-time at Colorado University, Denver Extension. Carl was reading most material at about 600 words per minute when he entered the course, and now states that he reads most technical material at about 2,500 wpm and lighter material at about 5,000 wpm.

Says Carl, "Since starting the course in February I've read virtually everything I can get my hands on and the total so far is approximately 750 books. The greatest improvement has been in my comprehension and the ability to remember what I read. I'm much more confident of reaching my goal of a doctorate in chemistry."

Carl was recently employed by a chemical distributor in Denver, and to help learn his new job read most of the available literature and brochures on the company's products. He was able to read some 600 pieces of material (equivalent to about 12 textbooks) in approximately 7 hours.

Students Average 1697 Words per Minute in Technical Study Material With 13% Increase in Comprehension

Students at ST. PAUL'S SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY in Kansas City graduated this January and rocketed an average of 8 1/2 times faster than their starting speeds.

EDITORIAL

From Carl H. Peterson, Regional Director

Dr. Robert Hutchins, former President of the University of Chicago, and founder of the great books program, once said, "To destroy our Western civilization, we won't have to burn all the books. We merely have to leave them unread for one generation." The principal problem we have to face today, as the frontiers of human knowledge are being thrust back, is that this knowledge is being committed to print, and it must be read before it can be used. Advances have been made in almost every field of human endeavor. We run faster, fly higher, and dive deeper, but we still read at the same speed that our grandparents did; 300 words per minute. The shame of it is that this is no longer necessary. The whole philosophy of learning could be changed if every person in this country would take the time to use his dormant capabilities. No industry could use the same standards and techniques it used 25 years ago and expect to continue in existence. Yet we remain satisfied with the same old reading standards and techniques. This would be fine if there were no better techniques available, but the major breakthrough in this has occurred. Victor Hugo said, "There is nothing in this world so powerful as an idea whose time has come." And this is just such an idea. Some day our national survival may depend on how well we are able to utilize our greatest resource, the minds of our young people. The "New Math" was first published in very much its present form in the 1890's. Do we have to wait 70 years for each valuable new concept to gain acceptance? Not if we can help it!

FAST READING INEFFECTIVE WITHOUT GOOD COMPREHENSION

"Reading is a waste of time, slow or fast, if you don't understand what you are reading," stated Evelyn Wood at a recent teacher training conference. "If you aren't comprehending, you aren't reading."

Mrs. Wood also was critical of skimming techniques, commonly used in speed reading courses and informed her teachers that they must increase comprehension at the same time they are achieving high speeds. She said, "Skipping words is dangerous, as you don't know whether or not you have skipped a word which could change the whole meaning of the sentence. You read five times faster, not by reading every fifth word, but by reading five times as many words in the same amount of time. It is impossible to tell which words to skip or disregard until you have seen them all and determined their relative importance and meaning."

"I must say that this is one of the most useful education experiences I have ever had. It certainly compares favorably with the experience I've had at Yale and Harvard."

"It is my opinion that if these techniques were instituted in the public and private schools of our country, it would be the greatest single step which we could take in educational progress."

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450-600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and many go even higher.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times with good comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests.

Ben Wilkins Jefferson County School District Elementary Teacher Denver, Colorado	336 to 1600	"This is a wonderful opportunity to get ahead in life through reading."	Dan Elton Machinist Denver, Colo.	343 to 2644	"With I could have taken this course years ago when I was more alert. I think, however, practice will make up for the loss of time."
James H. Dwyer Capt. U.S. Air Force Electrical Engineer Colorado Springs	850 to 3160	"I have been thrilled by the results of this course. It is well worth the money. The eight weeks of instruction have really opened the door to better reading satisfaction. I'm going to keep working on the techniques learned to improve my reading even more."	Dr. Marvin Goldfarb Dentist Denver, Colorado	277 to 1436	"Course to very well worth the student's time, effort and money. Any course where the teachers and instructors have taken as much interest in the progress of the students."
Ronnie Amato Box 247, Rt. 2 Denver, Colo.	214 to 2304	"I thought the teacher was very good. He was complete and to the point. He didn't leave you up in the air. A very good teacher."	Ruth Korthius Housewife Denver, Colorado	306 to 1679	"The course was a profitable, happy experience. It was time well spent in doing what most of us enjoy but never seem to have enough time for—reading. By learning to read in a classroom situation, I am motivated by interest to complete all assignments whereas if I took a home study course I'd probably never complete it."
Jack Dolcourt, Student 1450 W. Collins Denver, Colo.	310 to 2707	"Extremely helpful for a student."	William McNabola U.S.A.F. Colorado Springs	528 to 1290	"I feel that this course has enabled me to experience a joy in reading, and that I've really only taken the first step."
John A. Seelye Student 3084 6th St. Boulder, Colo.	827 to 1198	"The course has created a certain self-confidence for me in terms of reading ability. Reading faster I am much more anxious to read more. I know I can read a book in an afternoon and am much more interested in spending free time this way. I intend to implement the suggestions on study skills; this has really helped in terms of recall and eventual digestion and comparison of criticism. Reading faster has given me a better foothold in the exploration of ideas."	Lola B. Medina Social Worker Denver, Colorado	237 to 948	"Has enough value that employers should allow working time off to appropriate employees as a good method of staff development for certain individuals, i.e. trainees."
Joe Barry 200 S. Corona Denver, Colo.	425 to 1197	"This course has helped me tremendously and now I read at least four times as much material in the same amount of time."	J. D. Mote Denver, Colorado	328 to 1966	"I believe in dramatic reading. I think it should be taught in the public schools as soon as the student can grasp the technique."
Mary Brown 8135 E. Florida Denver, Colo.	216 to 2028	"I heard about this course from a girl at school. It fascinated me so I thought I'd try it. My parents thought it was a good idea and it has already helped me."	David R. Williams Lawyer Denver, Colorado	310 to 1905	"Course has been very helpful. Instructions have been very clear and intelligent."
Roy Burton 5140 E. Lehigh Denver, Colo.	360 to 2280	"Reading Dynamics improved many factors of one's life (mental attitude) other than just reading speed. Highly recommend it for school children."	Joan Stozorok Secretary Denver, Colorado	328 to 4000	"I feel like a new world of reading has been opened to me. Before taking the course I read very little because it was such a chore. Now I really look forward to reading and feel that I will get more out of books as a result of the course."
John Richards Student 850 Troy St. Denver, Colo.	355 to 1818	"This course is worth more than it costs. I want to continue it."	Gray Chumsky Student Colorado School of Mines Golden, Colorado	354 to 2727	"This course has helped me read faster and read more things I have wanted to read for a long time. Our teacher was excellent. She knew her subject very well and presented it in a very interesting manner."
Don Steyer Student 1715 Aurora Boulder, Colo.	320 to 1190	"This course really helped on all kinds of reading. The teaching was good, and the methods were effective and simple, and able to be used to improve my reading."	Paul J. Epperson Secretary IBM Corporation Denver, Colorado	425 to 2400	"A course should be designed for children. This is an excellent tool to use in all studying."
Donald E. Guy Student 1200 30th Bldg #3	355 to 1600	"I felt that the course was worthwhile. My speed for novels is now close to 1,000 wpm, while textbooks and journals are usually read at 1,000 wpm, or slightly lower. The instructor was excellent and the experience was rewarding."	Lee Loushin Secretary General Foods Corp. Denver, Colorado	312 to 643	"This course really helps you read faster and make it much more fun to read. I was such a slow reader and didn't like to read because it took so long to finish a book. Now I feel I want to read more because it goes so much faster."
Cathy Gilmore Teacher of the Deaf Denver, Colo.	228 to 2238	"I've always enjoyed reading and have a book 'zone' continually. Now I ever plodded along at 200 plus words per minute and still enjoyed it. I'll never understand. I really didn't think anyone could teach me to read. The most grateful for what I've been taught."	Joe Swift Personnel Officer Denver General Hosp. Denver, Colorado	362 to 1748	"If you wish to improve your reading speed and are really willing to work at it—take the course!"

memories of summer, plans for fall in suburbia

It's September, "at last" or "already," dependent upon how well prepared you are for its arrival. But, regardless of your preparedness, September doesn't signal a stop to activities if you count yourself among Lincoln's suburban residents, and if today's news is any indication.

FIENE HEIGHTS

Chicago and Manitowoc, Wis., were points on the itinerary of an August vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman. The trip had the duo purpose of providing a break in summertime activities and showing Mrs. Sherman's brother, Abraham Diamond of Moscow, U.S.S.R., some more of the U.S.A. In Manitowoc the travelers visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Schwartz and their children, Wendy and Alan. While there they celebrated Mr. Sherman's birthday on August 19 and Mrs. Schwartz' August 20th birthday.

After a side trip to Deer Park Lodge, Wis., with their daughter's parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schwartz, they traveled to Iowa City, Ia., where they met another son-in-law and daughter, Lincoln residents Mr. and Mrs. Norman Krivosha and their daughters, Terri and Rhonda, who were en route to a vacation point in Canada.

PATRICIAN HEIGHTS

Another homecoming pair are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Benson who arrived home on Thursday from a short stay in Colorado Springs, Colo. They timed their trip to Colorado Springs to coincide with the arrival of their son and daughter-in-law, The Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Benson, and their daughters, Kerry and Kathleen, from their summer stay in San Francisco. The younger Bensons chose San Francisco as their summer home, so the Rev. Benson could pick up some graduate hours towards his doctorate in theology.

PARK MANOR

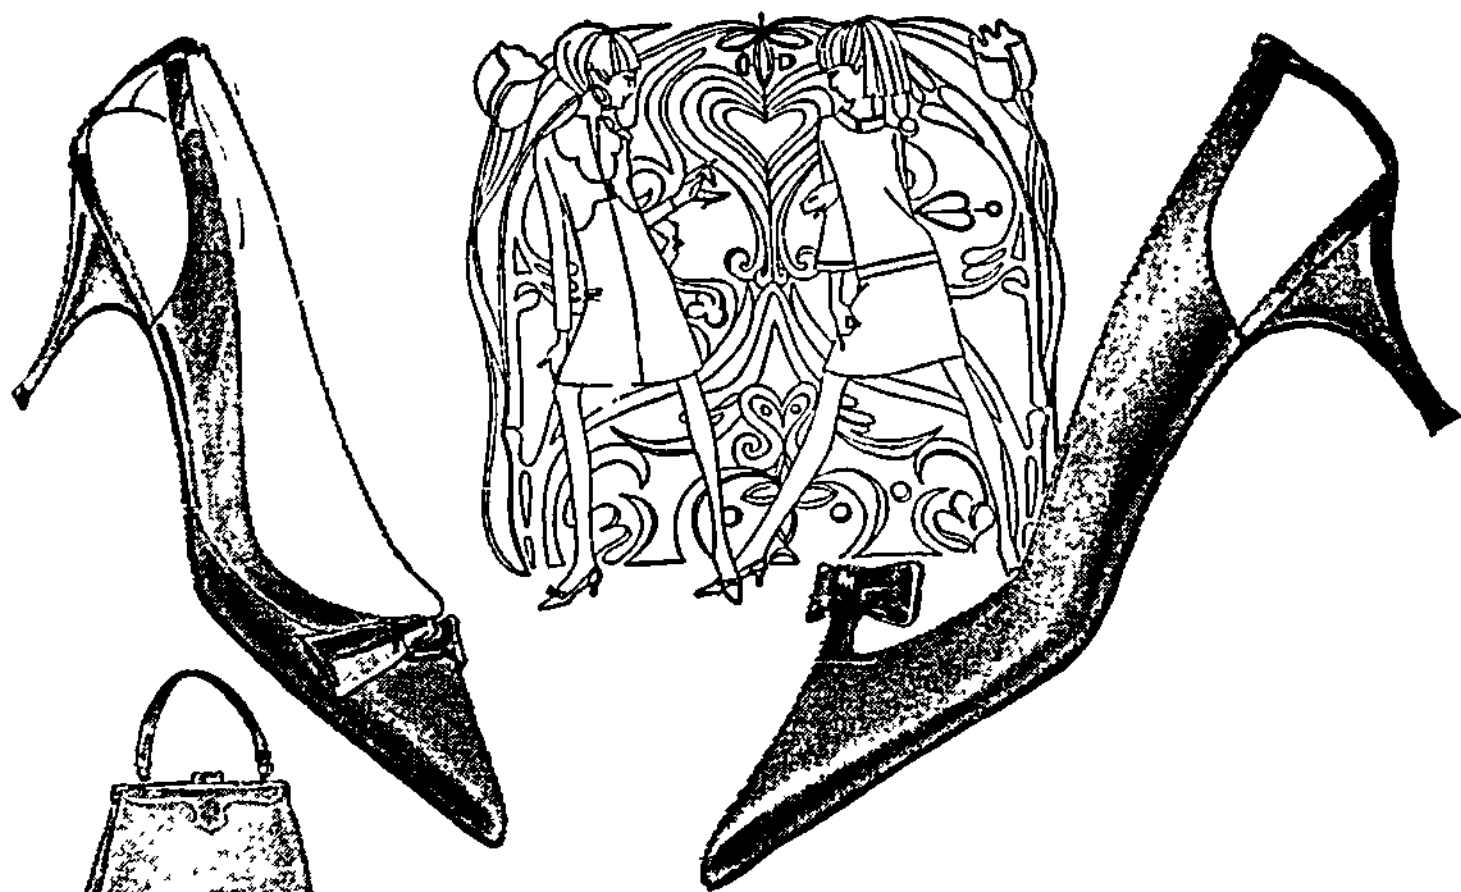

Mrs. Robert Brooks returned a few days ago from a trip to Wisconsin to accompany her son, Robert, and daughter Janet home from camp. Dr. and Mrs. Brooks are basking in reflected glory — It seems that Robert, a first year camper, received the award — and trophy — for having been the best junior camper.

Janet attended Camp Bryn Afon, as did Pam Jones, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, who returned home with the Brooks threesome.

Riviera Drive was blocked off for the neighborhood's third annual "block party" on Saturday evening. Everyone brought his own chicken, the salads were divided between the various households, and the fancy things, such as brownies, and other goodies were taken to the party by the committee which included Mrs. Robert Collins, Mrs. William Krummel, Mrs. Ray Coons, Mrs. Don Falos, Mrs. Walter Bruning, and Mrs. Richard Taylor.

Those new neighbors — we hear that three families have arrived recently — no longer are strangers to each other or their neighbors who have been around the area longer. After the chicken dinner, the evening was spent informally.

AN October bride-elect

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Flanagan of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy Kay, to Pfc. Richard H. Franzen, son of Mrs. Richard Williams of Lincoln, and Clarence Franzen, also of Lincoln.

The wedding is planned for Monday, Oct. 3.

Pvt. Franzen is stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Club Year Planned

Meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Ralph Beechner were the members of the board of the Lincoln Public School Faculty Wives, who made plans for the organization's activities during the coming year.

The group will honor newcomers at its first meeting of the fall when the members will entertain at a 7:30 o'clock dessert-supper, to be held at the home of Mrs. Steven Watkins.

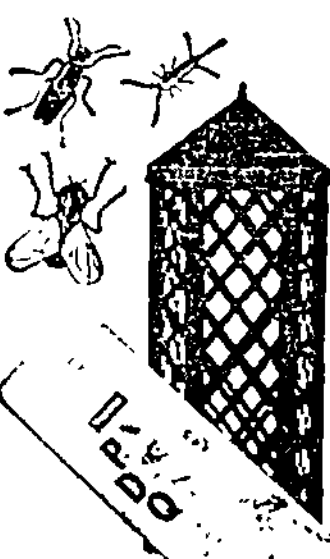

"Nebraskaland" and the state's approaching Centennial were chosen as the club's program theme for the five general meetings to be held this year, concluding with election of officers in April.

Also resuming meetings in September will be the club's neighborhood groups, into which the membership is divided. The groups hold social meetings once a month during the school year.

Mrs. Beechner is president of the organization assisted by Mrs. Neal Zimmerman, vice president, Mrs. John Hill, secretary, and Mrs. Robert George, treasurer.

Opening lead—king of clubs.

Some endplay situations are dealt ready-made for declarer to execute. All that a declarer has to do in these cases is recognize the position and take advantage of it.

In other hands, however, the endplay is not immediately discernible because it does not yet exist and has to be created to be effective. These hands usually require looking many tricks ahead to visualize the ultimate end position, but this type of foresight is certainly not uncommon at the bridge table.

If South takes the right view in this hand, he realizes at trick one that the slam is in the bag. All he has to do is arrange his play so that he winds up losing only one heart trick, not two.

He does not stake the result on a heart finesse against the king, which would only have an even chance of success. Instead, he shapes his play to overcome the possibility that West was dealt the king.

He does this by clearing the diamonds and clubs before tackling hearts. He takes the ace of clubs, ruffs a club, and draws a round of trumps.

He next cashes the ace of diamonds. Then declarer trumps dummy's last club, after which he ruffs his last diamond in dummy.

The stage is by now set for the endplay which cannot fail. Declarer leads a heart and finesses the seven after East plays low.

West wins with the ten, but, whatever he returns, South is sure of the rest of the tricks. A heart lead would be more than welcome, and the same goes for a club or diamond return, which would yield a ruff and discard. The endplay eliminates all chance of defeat.

It would not help the defense if East played the jack on the heart lead from dummy. In such case South would finesse the queen to put West in the same helpless position.

PARTY was a prenuptial courtesy

Honored at a bridal shower on Monday evening was Miss Dianna McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. McGuire, who has chosen a September wedding date for her marriage to Ed Johnson.

The future bride was the guest of honor at a party given by Miss Pam Sprague, Mrs. Jerrell Johnson and Miss Liz Van Sickle at the home of Miss Van Sickle. Guests included former high school classmates and office co-workers of the bride-elect.

LUNCHEON honored autumn bride-elect

A hostess at a prenuptial courtesy on Wednesday afternoon was Mrs. Van S. Ashmun who entertained at luncheon at Hillcrest Club honoring Miss Jon Anne Henderson.

Miss Henderson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Henderson, has chosen Saturday, Sept. 10, as the day for her marriage to Ronald Kent Einspahr. Following the luncheon, the 14 guests presented a bridal shower to the future bride. From the left are Mrs. Robert Henderson, Mrs. Marshall Jurgens, the honored guest and Mrs. Ashmun.

Both Miss Henderson and her fiancé are graduates of the University of Nebraska, where the bride-elect served as president of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. Mr. Einspahr is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho.

Wedding Attendants Are Announced

Miss Dearwyn Loewenstein, whose marriage to Dennis P. Hudson will be an event of Friday, Sept. 9, is announcing the members of her bridal party.

For her maid of honor, the bride-elect has named her sister, Miss Delaine Loewenstein, and Mrs. Larry Axthelm will attend her sister as matron of honor.

Miss Jean Hudson and Miss Stacy James will be the bridesmaids, and the junior bridesmaids will be Miss Nancy Hudson and Miss Arlene Busboom. Miss Dianne Lutz will be the flower girl.

Lighting the chancel candles for the 7:30 o'clock evening service at Christ Methodist Church will be Dennis Loewenstein, brother of the bride-to-be, and Miss Marilyn Englebart.

Serving Mr. Hudson as best man will be Frank Knott, and the corps of ushers will include David Lindberg of Omaha, Larry Axthelm, Randy Nelson, Douglas Murphy and Dick Frank.

Revolutionary... Deep/Steam-Clean/Extraction Process For wall to wall carpet cleaning SOIL EXTRACTED "NOT" Scrubbed Deeper into Fabric . . .

We at Lincoln Rug are proud to offer people of the Lincoln area a really different, really new, and really better method of cleaning their beautiful and valuable carpets — the deep steam extraction process which has stirred up a storm of approval in the carpet industry.

Carpet cleaners all over the nation who have taken an interest in the steam cleaning method believe that this is the only current process which actually removes most of the dirt. The process costs more than the conventional method but usually saves money in the long run, because it removes the deep dirt. There is a buildup of dirt or detergent near the base of the carpet. It is not unusual for a carpet to need its first cleaning in 9 months, its second in a year, and the third in 18 months. The Wisdom machine eliminates this.

Lincoln Rug still makes the conventional method available, at the lower cost, but most customers want the new process when they see what it does. Any business or individual desiring a demonstration of this machine call Gerald or Bob, 488-2353.

THE DIFFERENCE—A controlled jet of steam penetrates into fabric—soil and residue are suspended and in the same operation instantly extracted. Deep steam extraction is probably the most thorough process ever developed for cleaning carpets, yet it is gentle to the fabric. During research and development of this amazing process we discovered that we can extract so much soil from a carpet that has just been shampooed so one that has not.

Customers are pleasantly surprised at the amount of soil and residue extracted from their carpets.

Ideal for upholstery cleaning. Using the same Deep/Steam-Clean/Extraction unit, with a special hand attachment—no brushes. This unit is thorough and gentle—and soil is extracted, not scrubbed deeper into fabric. The hand attachment can be used for cleaning mattresses and bed springs. It is also handy for stair carpets and hard to reach carpeted areas.

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric—and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. RESIDUE—the detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last night I went to sleep with the pillow over my ears to drown out the noise of my parents quarreling. I am the oldest of six and I feel sort of responsible for the younger ones. My folks have been fighting ever since I can remember.

They fight about little things, like who put gas in the car last, and also over big things like money, and my father's not spending enough time with my little brothers.

Abby, this is giving me a nervous stomach because they fight a lot at the supper table. What can a 14-year-old girl do?

SICK OF FIGHTING

DEAR SICK: The only thing you can do, honey, is to remember it. And make sure you don't give your children the same kind of unpleasant memories.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "insults" wasn't fair. It was in response to guests who complained because the guest room they were offered was poorly furnished. "They obviously do not want guests," you stated.

After all, some families cannot obtain everything at once. We have a $500 bed (I am six feet, seven inches tall and weigh 250 pounds), but we have a $17 roll-away bed in our "guest room," which also doubles as a study with books stacked in every corner. We enjoy having guests, but have not had the funds to furnish our guest room as we would like.

Someday we will have better accommodations. But in the meantime, I hope our visits together will make up for their having to sleep on a roll-away bed in a crowded room.

ONE OF YOUR EDITORS

DEAR EDITOR: Sorry about that, boss, but the guest wrote, "They have a beautiful, push-button home with every modern convenience imaginable. There is nothing too good for them or their children." From that, I inferred it was not so much a shortage of cash, but consideration, I could have been wrong.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Honored At Bridal Showers

An autumn bride-to-be who has been honored at several courtesies recently is Miss Di na Rohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rohn, Jr., who will become the bride of Donald Palmer, Jr., on Saturday, Sept. 17.

Entertaining last Sunday for the bride-elect was Mrs. George Kolb who was hostess to friends and feminine members of Mr. Palmer's family. A miscellaneous showers was presented to Miss Rohn at the party, held at the home of her fiance's mother.

Honoring Miss Rohn on Saturday evening, Aug. 13, were Miss Jackie Paroubek, Miss Judy McPherson and Miss Nancy Miller who entertained at a bridal shower at the home of Miss Paroubek.

Entertaining Wednesday evening in pre-nuptial courtesy for a September bride-elect was Mrs. Richard Carlson who was hostess to a group of guests at her home. During the informal evening, a linen shower was presented to the honoree, Miss Sandra Osborne.

Miss Osborne will become the bride of Ronald Hahn on Saturday, Sept. 10, at a 7:30 o'clock evening ceremony.

GOPs Ask Probe Of 'President's Club' List

Washington (AP)—House Republicans called Wednesday for a full investigation of the membership list of the President's club to ferret out possible influence-peddling and criminal violations.

In a continuing attack on the Democratic Party's big fund-raising organization, the GOP leadership urged President Johnson to shut it down and open its books to the public.

They also made plans to publish in the Congressional Record the names and addresses of all contributors to the club for the past three years—around 2,000—and invited newsmen to seek any links between them and big government contracts.

There was no immediate White House comment.

For the past several weeks, Republican members have been speaking of "striking coincidences" in the award of contracts to big donors to the club, which is open to persons who contribute at least $1,000 to the Democratic Party.

Following up at a news conference Wednesday, House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said party investigators have found evidence of "political favoritism and skulduggery" involving some donations and added:

"I believe where there is smoke there must be fire. And I think the smoke is getting so thick in the inner sanctum of the president's club it must be quite uncomfortable for many members."

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., who has sought to link some big donors with favorable government actions, said the GOP investigation still has not got beyond the "curious and coincidental" stage.

"But we have put together a jigsaw puzzle that gives about three-fourths of the picture," he said, "and you can pretty well fill in the rest for yourself."

Asked if there might be criminal violations involved in some of the donations, Goodell said:

"The only way to develop a criminal case is with subpoena powers and the power to put people under oath. We're calling for that kind of an investigation."

Ford said the investigation should be carried out by a select bipartisan committee. He will introduce legislation that would create such a committee, he said.

Until that time, Ford said, Johnson should "suspend the operation of the President's Club without further delay. He should declare plainly and publicly that no more contributions will be accepted and that any received will be returned."

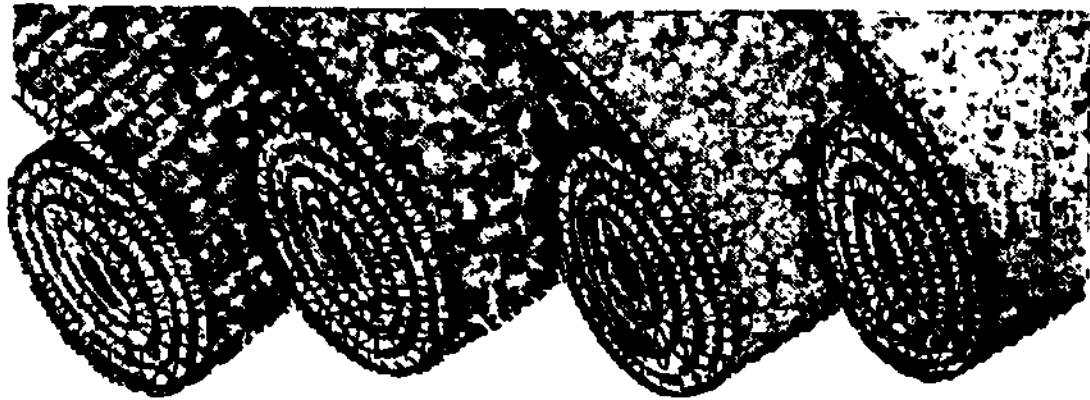

Ford, Goodell and Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill., said the questions raised by President's Club donations also underscore a need for Congress to pass an election reform bill setting strict limits on political donations.

Marble Mountains Just Off Highway

Leghorn, Italy — Italy's west coast. These mountains have been quarried since Roman times. In the 13th century, 600 Carrara quarries were being worked; today about 400 are active. The marble is cut with a chemically treated wire.

Peter Pan invented a new kind of transistor

Transistor® by Peter Pan

Here's the first girdle that just doesn't look like one. It's a light, bright merry little shaper that keeps you trim and trim without body seaming, because Peter Pan found a way to knit Caprolan® and spandex power net into a circle. You'll find the colors irresistible, want them all, blue, green, apricot or charcoal. S-M-L size in Transistor® short leg panty, 6.00; fashion length panty, 7.00. Pretty matching Transistor® bra with famous fiber-foam, 32-36 average cup, 5.00.

GOLD'S

The hunting season is about to open, bringing joy and prosperity to rural northern California. Only a sportsman knows the joy of putting on a red hat and red coat and hanging away at deer with the old 30.06.

Unfortunately each year there are amateurs who don't really know a deer when they see one. They shoot almost anything—often each other.

Those who survive come back with hardy tales. And sometimes with venison.

It is sporty country from here north. A long, windswept coastline, broken by coves stacked with sun-whitened driftwood. The people were mainly sheep ranchers—a sheep is about the only animal that can graze alongside the sheer ocean cliffs without being blown to glory.

The back country is full of redwoods of majestic height and age. They are being logged off rapidly. Conservation people are trying to save them. The lumber companies say they must cut or perish. Meantime California's explosive population is moving in—Castle and Cooks of Honolulu's "Big Five" has an enormous home project up here.

So people move in to enjoy the natural beauty. Which people who live here insist they must cut down. The whole thing becoming an Alice in Wonderland world.

The Russians were here first for sea otter furs. Their reconstructed Fort Ross is a state park.

Richard Henry Dana saw them when he came to San Francisco Bay in the "Alert" in 1834.

"They lived upon grease; ate it, drank it, slept in the midst of it, and their clothes were covered with it. To a Russian, grease is the greatest luxury. They looked with greedy eyes upon the tallow-bags as they were taken into the vessel, and, no doubt, would have eaten one up whole, had not the officer kept watch over it."

The country is full of deer, and I have never seen so many quail as this year.

It is splendid fishing country, both sea and river. Along the coast where the cliffs drop into coves, you can find abalone along the tidal rocks.

It is wonderful wild country in winter. The storms sweep down unbroken from the Aleutians, slashing the whole coast with rain and wind. The surf rises to white fury, and the booming heat can be heard for miles.

Storm buffs give their home phone numbers to resorts up here. When the storms build up, they get a call. They come piling into the lodges and sit by log fires and just listen. It's wonderful.

The redwoods up here rebuilt San Francisco from three devastating fires. Lumber seemed inexhaustible in those days.

Now it appears it is possible to cut down all the trees. So the talks go on—"What shall we save?" "Where shall we save?" And the saws rip and trees crash—gone forever.

Well, it's warm autumn now along the northern coast. The hunters are stocking up on ammunition. (Duck, brother!)

The sporting goods stores are doing well. (Another box of shells?)

Conservationists are yelling. (Scream!)

And all's well along the northern coast.

"THANK YOU FOR SHOPPING AT KRESGE'S"

The 1966 Nebraska State Fair 4-H Horse Show will be the largest in State Fair history, according to show superintendent Professor R. B. Warren, of the University of Nebraska Department of Animal Science.

A total of 455 horses — 104 more than last year — are involved in 715 entries, according to Professor Warren.

Statewide 4-H member enrollment in light horse projects increased from 3,181 in 1964 to 3,235 in 1965. There were 4,008 horses involved in light horse projects in 1965.

All qualifying 4-H members are eligible to enter three different classes in the Horse Show. One member may enter two performance classes and one halter class. However, all performance class entries must have qualified at a district show by placing in a blue or purple ribbon group, according to Professor Warren. Halter classes were not included in district competition.

The State 4-H Horse Show includes seven halter classes and six performance classes. Performance class trials began at 7 a.m. Friday in the Fairgrounds Coliseum Arena and continue in this order: pleasure ponies, pleasure horses, horsemanship, reining, pole bending and barrel racing.

Friday at 2 p.m. halter class competition will be conducted in this order: weanling fillies, yearling fillies, two-year-old mares, mares three years and older, weanling colts, yearling and two-year-old geldings, geldings three years and older, and halter horse showmanship class.

Friday at 7 p.m. the performance class finals will be run off in the Coliseum Arena. Beginning with a parade of Flags of American history, 4-H Performance Classes finalists, and halter classes trophy winners, the night show will include showmanship finals as well as championship competition for each of the six performance classes.

Trophies for top competitors in the halter, showmanship, and performance classes will be presented by the Arabian Horse Association of Nebraska, the Nebraska Appaloosa Horse Club, and the Quarter Horse Association of Nebraska.

Winnebago Man Charged In Slaying

Peader — County Attorney R. K. Samuelson said Wednesday a 22-year-old Winnebago man has been charged with second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Robert Masquart.

Samuelson said the man charged was Wilmont Rave Masquart, 40, a Winnebago farm laborer, was found shot to death in a wooded area near Winnebago early Tuesday.

So far authorities have declined to reveal the details of the case.

Do It The Asian Way

Djarkata (UPI) — Visiting Thai Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman and President Sukarno agreed that the Viet Nam war should be solved "the Asian way by Asians." The two men met for an hour, during which they discussed the Viet Nam crisis at length, an official statement said.

Parade is the big four-color picture magazine section in the "Sunday Journal and Star".

Flood In Vientiane

Vientiane, Laos (UPI) — Rampaging Mekong River waters flooded one third of this city. Other towns, including Luang Prabang, were inundated.

Grand Island Plans To Build 2 New Generators

The City of Grand Island informed the Nebraska Power Review Board Wednesday it plans to construct two new power generating plants to make the city electrically self-sufficient.

The city filed notice that it will construct a 15,000-kilowatt "quick start" generating plant by next year and later build a giant 50,000-kilowatt facility, to be operational by early 1970.

The plants, costing an estimated $8 million, do not require state board approval since they are to be constructed within the Grand Island city limits.

The plants would more than double the city's present power generating capacity and eliminate the need to purchase electricity at wholesale from any outside power source.

Angus McKenzie, assistant to the city utilities commissioner, said the plans for new plants were prompted by the July 11 blackouts which hit the eastern two thirds of the state.

Grand Island was not affected, but the failures raised questions about the reliability of the Nebraska Public Power System (NPPS), a wholesale power agency which was crippled by the blackouts, McKenzie said.

The city has an emergency power interchange agreement with NPPS.

McKenzie said the "quick start" generating unit will be used in emergencies and during periods of peak power use in the summer.

The gas-turbine facility, costing an estimated $1.5 million, is scheduled to be under construction by Dec. 1.

Plans for the larger plant could be abandoned if the city signs a favorable power purchase agreement with NPPS or any other supplier, McKenzie noted.

The 50,000-kilowatt facility, powered by a steam turbine, would cost an estimated $6.5 million.

The plants would be financed through the issuance of revenue bonds and be located in southeast Grand Island adjacent to the city's two present units, which have a total capacity of 50,000 kilowatts, McKenzie said.

Power Review Board Nixes Rehearing In Schuyler Case

The Nebraska Power Review Board refused Wednesday on a 4-0 vote to reconsider its ruling in a controversy between the City of Schuyler and a rural public power district over electrical service to a packing plant.

The action cleared the way for a State Supreme Court test of the board's ruling, which denied the city's application to serve the plant. The city is expected to appeal.

At issue specifically in the case is whether the city or the Cornhusker Public Power District of Columbus should serve power to the large Spencer Packing Co. plant on the outskirts of Schuyler.

The larger issue centers on whether a city has a right to serve an industry within its zoning area even though the industry is in another power supplier's prescribed service area.

Western Pacific's Attempt To Drop Zephyr Route Rapped By Rail Unit

The State Railway Commission Wednesday filed a petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission protesting the application of the Western Pacific Railroad Co. to end its passenger service on the California Zephyr route.

The state commission said discontinuance of the service would place "an undue burden on the public, participating railroads, bus lines, air lines and integrated highway systems of our country."

The railroad has asked authority to discontinue its segment of the California Zephyr route which extends from Chicago to the West Coast.

Under an agreement, the Burlington Railroad transports passengers from Chicago to Colorado and the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad takes the passengers to Ogden, Utah, where the Western Pacific takes over.

Western Pacific claims it is losing money on the passenger service and would like to retain freight service only.

"For the Western Pacific railroad to solicit freight business via the Salt Lake City gateway and furnish equipment to Nebraska shippers to comply with their revenue route appears to be a one-sided affair," the commission said.

"The population explosion, in and of itself, demands not only the present inadequate rail passenger service but improved and enlarged services."

Senators Okay Less Than LBJ Wanted In 'Food For Peace' Plan

Washington (UPI) — The Senate approved 74 to 2 Wednesday a trimmed-down version of President Johnson's plan to turn the "Food for Peace" program into a more effective weapon for fighting world hunger.

The measure now goes back to the House, which passed a bill closer to the original administration request. The two "no" votes were cast by Sens. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, and John Williams, R-Del.

Under the Senate's $5 billion, two-year bill, the government could sell — for foreign currencies — $1.9 billion a year worth of U.S. surplus food to needy nations.

It also would be authorized to give $600 million a year in food for other purposes, primarily in the field of emergency disaster and famine relief.

5 Years Asked

Johnson had asked for a five-year, $3.3 billion annual program. Like the Senate, the House voted only two-year authority. But it went along with the $3.3 billion figure for each of the two years.

In addition to other changes the Senate refused to comply with Johnson's wish to change the name of the program to "Food for Freedom," which was granted by the House.

Before passing the bill Wednesday, the Senate voted to permit continued sale but not donation of tobacco under the program. The amendment was a compromise of one that would have kept tobacco completely out of the program.

Tighter Terms

The Senate bill would tighten terms on cash sales of U.S. commodities sold under the program. This is a point that will have to be ironed out in conference with the House.

The existing rate on such deals is 40 years at 2.5% interest with a 10-year "grace" period of only 1%.

The Senate cut the term to 20 years with a two-year grace period, something the administration fears will damage the program. It is concerned that countries like India will not accept such short-range-terms for lack of cash.

Console Phones Slip

New York — Dealers sold 5,750,000 phonographs in 1965, an increase of 11.6 per cent. Most were portable and table models. Console sales slipped a little, to 1,708,660.

AAU Swim Event May Break Even . . . FINANCIALLY

Wendell Groth, meet director of the National AAU swimming and diving championships held at Woods Pool in August, told Lincoln Chamber of Commerce directors Wednesday that the big swimming event will probably break even financially.

"We might possibly make a few dollars . . . I don't anticipate any loss right now, but the bills are still coming in," Groth said.

The chamber board gave its support to Groth's request to indicate Lincoln's interest in hosting 1968 Olympic swimming tryouts. He said a preliminary presentation would be made to the full Olympic committee at a Sept. 10 meeting in New York City.

Lincoln will probably be competing against Charlotte, N.C., and Los Angeles, he reported.

Groth also noted that Lincoln has been requested to host the Pan American Games platform diving trials next year. "We have the reputation of having the finest platform diving facility in the United States today," he said.

The chamber board voted to protest against the discontinuance by the Western Pacific Railroad of "California Zephyr" service between Salt Lake City and San Francisco.

The protest will be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

If Western Pacific's action is not protested, "Lincoln is in real danger of losing its only single-train service to the West Coast," said John DuPont, chamber traffic manager.

"The proposal to eliminate 67% of Lincoln's rail service needs must be made subject to a searching investigation," he said.

In other action, the chamber board:

—Indicated its interest in Lincoln continuing as the site of the state's Nebraska Days celebration.

Walter Nolte, chairman of a citywide committee promoting Lincoln as a permanent site, said more time would be requested in which to put together a proposal to be submitted to State Game Commission Mel Steen.

—Endorsed the establishment of a Lincoln Community College.

Supt. of Schools Steve Watkins said the community college would serve as "an umbrella covering the whole adult education program in the city."

The concept will be called a "junior college", as required by state law, on a November ballot proposition asking city voters to approve the establishment of a community college, Watkins noted.

He said the college, to be administered by the school district, would not compete on the four-year liberal arts level, but would be established to give Lincoln adults needed vocational, technical or semi-professional training.

More 5-Year-Olds, Parents At Safety Clinics

Safety procedures in walking to and from school were emphasized and reiterated to one hundred kindergartners and their parents at five school safety clinics here Wednesday.

Lt. Melvin Dorn of the Lincoln Police Department found considerably larger audiences at the sessions held at five elementary schools than were on hand Monday for the first series. Only 24 five-year-olds and parents appeared Monday.

A total of 150 viewed the demonstration and brief instruction led by the police officer.

Some 70 mothers and kindergartners were in attendance at Elliott School. Two blocks south of O St. on 25th St. Discussion of the slow installation and great need for a traffic signal at 25th and &

O Sts. dominated parental comments, according to Lt. Dorn.

George Bezkorovany of the traffic engineer's office reported that shortages in material had caused delays in shipping equipment for the signal at 25th and O, but the contractor had assured the city the light would be installed and operating before school opens Sept. 12.

The half-hour session which Lt. Dorn will repeat at 27 more schools on a schedule running through Sept. 12, included a demonstration of the use of pedestrian-actuated signals, proper procedure for observing traffic lights and pedestrian lanes and comments about other potential dangers to school children, such as contact with strangers.

Wednesday at Elliott and the other safety clinics at Prescott, which was attended by 40 children and parents. Clare McPhee, 6; Saratoga, 18, and Sheridan, 16, parents were offered suggestions for a school crossing protection program that would "encourage children to become safety conscious" so they do not have to rely on others.

"A school crossing protection program, it was also noted, should be of 'such a nature as to have the least possible effect upon vehicular traffic consistent with its purpose of providing safe crossings for children.'"

"The basic responsibility to get children to and from school is a parental responsibility," it was emphasized.

Procedures for making requests for school crossing protection also were explained.

Thursday's clinics are slated for Clinton, Hartley, Hawthorne, Trinity Lutheran and Riley.

Population Rural In North Dakota

Bismarck N.D. — Sixty-five per cent of North Dakota's population is rural. A larger portion of its population is rural than any other state's, though Mississippi, Alaska, West Virginia, Vermont, South Dakota and North Carolina are not far behind with 60%.

School Officials See 1,200 More Students During Next Four Years

Lincoln Public Schools officials estimate a 1,200 enrollment increase in the district during the next four years, necessitating an addition of more than 20 elementary classrooms at seven different buildings.

The enrollment predictions through 1970 are based on pre-school age figures from the June, 1966 school census.

For this school year opening Sept. 12, Lincoln pupils are estimated at 28,694 for all grades, about 800 fewer students than actually were enrolled last year.

Yearly estimates after 1966-67 indicate anticipated increases of between 500-600 students at a time through 1970.

The statistics, according to the district projection report released Wednesday, are based upon the assumption that a small number of families will occupy the housing area at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Some of the elementary classrooms that are predicted to be needed in the next few years are in school buildings in which decreases in student population are expected even before 1970.

Only three elementary schools will need more than one additional classroom before 1970, according to the report.

Two schools are predicted to have a sharp increase in enrollment after this year but also a noticeable decrease in students before 1970.

Twelve of the district's elementary school buildings, including annexes, show definite trends of continually decreasing student population. Another 10, according to the estimates, will remain fairly stable in student enrollment.

School predictions listed in the report show a definite trend of continually increasing enrollment in 14 elementary schools, including annexes.

The schools forecast for growth, as well as those expected to decline are scattered throughout the city.

Half Days Are Planned At Ruth Pyrtle

Kindergartners, first and second graders at Ruth Pyrtle School at 721 So. Cottonwood Dr. will start the school year Sept. 12 with half-day sessions, Supt. Steven Watkins confirmed Wednesday.

A seven-room addition to the building, scheduled for completion by the opening of school, was delayed by the seven-week city construction strike.

Dr. Watkins reported the temporary half-day sessions were scheduled for eight weeks when the building is expected to be completed.

Pre-registration at Ruth Pyrtle is slated for Thursday and Friday. School officials will not know how many children will be affected by the situation until after that.

Watkins said The addition will accommodate 210 youngsters.

Parents are being advised of the half-day possibility and will be further notified if their children definitely are affected.

The sessions will run between 8:30 to noon and noon to 3:30 p.m.

Lincoln Catholic Schools Get 2,601 On Opening Day

Lincoln's seven Catholic schools started classes Wednesday with a total enrollment of 2,601, according to school officials.

Pius X reported a total of 530 students for the 10th, 11th and 12th grades.

A total of 678 pupils were reported for the junior high grades of seventh, eighth and ninth, and 1,393 were recorded for the elementary grades, 1-6.

Enrollment by school St. Teresa's, grades 1-6, 321; junior high, 171.

Cathedral of the Risen Christ School, grades 1-6, 275; junior high, 150.

St. John's, grades 2-6, 260; junior high, 121.

St. Mary's, grades 1-6, 173; junior high, 72.

Blessed Sacrament, grades 1-6, 212; junior high, 93.

St. Patrick's, grades 1-6, 152; junior high, 71.

Downtown Banks Report Higher August Clearings

Lincoln's four downtown banks reported Wednesday that bank clearings for August 1966 totaled $58,935,944.

This compares with $56,712,927 for the same month in 1965.

The total for this year, January through August, is now $458,141,327.

POWELL TAKES AIM ON SHRIVER

Washington (AP) — Heckled, challenged, but unruffled, Harlem Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., proposed Wednesday a wholesale shake-up in the top echelons of the government — all aimed at ousting Sargent Shriver as director of the drive against poverty.

He said Shriver might make a good secretary of state.

Powell said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz are examples of the kind of man who should run a 10-year, $100-billion drive to lift American Negroes to full equality.

And he nominated Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to oversee coordination of manpower and poverty programs.

"Before many of those now in the freedom fight ever knew there was such a thing as racial equality, Humphrey was in the front line trenches, battling for equal rights for black people," Powell said.

Powell said it would be expedient for Shriver to resign as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, and give way to an administrator dedicated to unity in government programs that can help the Negro.

He faced challenges from Shriver's defenders — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Shriver's brother-in-law; and Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

The heckling came from a delegation of New York apartment landlords, about a dozen strong, who insisted they should get a hearing at Ribicoff's inquiry into big city problems.

When Powell protested slum rents, they broke in with protests, jeers and applause. Ribicoff silenced them.

But when the hearing was over, they commandeered the chamber for an outburst of protests against rent control in New York. Police escorted some from the hearing room, dragged others

Special Panel Nearer; Powell Probed Anew

Washington (UPI) — The House Rules Committee, acting in the wake of new inquiries into the activities of stormy Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, approved creation of a special standards and conduct committee Wednesday.

The committee's surprise action, taken without hearings or announced intention to deal with the subject, would provide for a 12-member panel divided equally among Democrats and Republicans to look into complaints about misconduct by members or their aides. The House would have to approve the creation of the committee.

The rules group acted after it was disclosed that a group of House Democrats are digging again into the matter of Powell's payroll.

Asked if published reports of the latest controversy revolving around the Harlem Democrat were responsible for the rules committee action, one of its members said: "It would be naive to assume that the committee is not aware of current developments."

The member said the rules committee had planned to hold public hearings on the proposed standards and conduct committee, but decided to go ahead without them.

The unofficial inquiry involving Powell was being pushed by members of the House Administration Committee, which has jurisdiction over financial operations of the House.

The members discussed reports that Powell's wife, Yvette, carried on his payroll as a $20,578 aide, has not received her pay checks at her home in Puerto Rico.

Powell told reporters that his wife's checks have been deposited in his account with the House sergeant-at-arms, and that he has sent her funds and paid her bills from that fund. He said there was nothing improper in the arrangement.

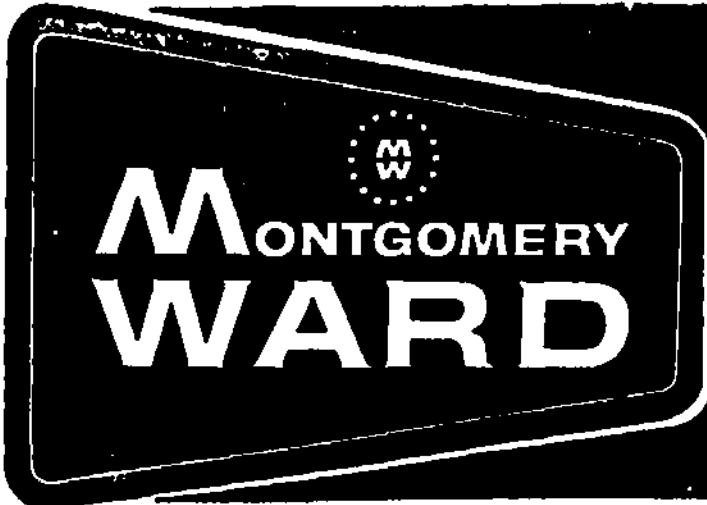

Nothing Official Rep. Omar Burlison, D-Tex., chairman of the administration committee, told newsmen no official investigation into Mrs. Powell's pay was being conducted nor had any complaint been received from her.

But other members of the committee said an unofficial inquiry was under way. One said the Secret Service, which would have jurisdiction over the use of federal checks, had been asked to look into the case.

The situation was complicated by the fact that eight of the 25 members of the administration committee also serve on Powell's education and labor committee. He has had bitter disputes with some of them.

REG. 8.65

Bishop James V. Casey of the Lincoln Catholic Diocese Wednesday urged that Labor Day be dedicated to the extension of "equal opportunity to all our fellow Americans." "In the midst of unparalleled prosperity, there is a segment of our population which knows generally degrading poverty," he said. "This is true for the great mass of American Negro people, and it is equally true for millions of Americans who work as migrant farm workers. "Most of these disadvantaged people are not yet welcomed into the ranks of organized labor, and they are denied equality in seeking jobs and housing for their families as well as the use of educational and recreational facilities. "These suffering, disadvantaged minority people represent the real challenge to Labor Day 1966."

Rocket Ads Gains Restraining Order

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles issued a temporary order restraining the City of Lincoln from interfering in the distribution of commercial circulars by Rocket Ad Service of Lincoln.

Judge Boyles set Sept. 9 for hearing on a temporary injunction sought by Jere Webb, doing business as Rocket Ad Service, alleging that the city has arrested both him and one of his employees and has threatened to arrest all agents and employees who are engaged in distributing circulars within the city.

The petition alleges that the firm is engaged in the business of distributing commercial circulars within the city limits by rolling them in a cone and placing the cone in a tube which propels them by compressed air from an automobile upon the private premises.

Webb contends he has a contract to distribute 35,000 by 11 a.m. Thursday, and on Aug. 10 he was charged with violation of two sections of the Municipal Code and one of his employees was arrested for violating the same sections Wednesday.

According to the petition, the city ordinances the plaintiff and his employee allegedly violated are those making it unlawful to throw litter upon the street or on any public or private property and to discharge any toy gun and slingshot loaded with a dangerous missile.

The petition further states that if Webb or his employee is found guilty in Municipal Court, where the charges are pending, he will appeal to the District Court.

Overlapping School District Voters Go To Nearest Polls

The State Justice Department said Wednesday a voter in a school district which overlaps two counties must ballot on the controversial Educational Service units at the polls nearest his residence.

The opinion was written for Lancaster County Election Commissioner Betty Jeanne Holcomb.

Miss Holcomb said certain school districts lie partly in Lancaster County and partly in adjoining counties.

The department also pointed out in its opinion that residents in the other county of the overlapping school district must also be allowed to vote in November on whether Lancaster County should be excluded from Educational Service Unit No. 6.

The department also ruled

Committee To Seek Aid For Turks

A "friends of Turkey" committee has been formed to seek contributions from Nebraskans to aid earthquake victims in Turkey.

The committee is headed by University of Nebraska staff members who served on the university-sponsored project to help establish Attaturk University in eastern Turkey where recent earthquakes killed some 3,000.

Mrs. Cecil Blunn of Lincoln, who participated in the Attaturk project with her husband, said there are about 60 University staff members who have served on the Attaturk staff and lived in the quake-damaged section of Turkey.

"A close bond has developed between Nebraska and Turkey because of the work with Attaturk University," Mrs. Blunn said. "In Turkey, you'd think Lincoln was the capital of the United States."

"We feel this is one way we can assist those people in their time of great need."

Lincoln Man Found Guilty In Accident

Leonard J. Johnson, charged with leaving the scene of a personal injury accident in connection with the death of a 13-year-old Lincoln youth, pleaded nolo contendere in Lancaster District Court.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Romm accepted the plea and found Johnson guilty. Sentence was deferred pending an investigation by the adult probation office.

The charge stemmed from an April 9 accident which fatally injured Stanley Sundling who was struck as he was riding his bicycle on Park Blvd. just south of the Humane Society.

Johnson later turned himself in to authorities.

5 Flooded Counties In State Labeled Major Disaster Area

By Associated Press
President Johnson Wednesday designated five east central Nebraska counties a "major disaster area" and allocated $500,000 to help repair damage caused by the Aug. 12-13 Loup River Basin flood.

The President informed Gov. Frank Morrison by telegram that the designation for Greeley, Boone, Nance, Colfax and Platte counties makes residents of those counties eligible for assistance under the federal disaster act.

He said representatives of the U.S. Office of Emergency Planning will work with the governor and his staff to clear the way for use of the federal emergency funds.

The $500,000 is to be used to finance restoration of bridges, roads and public buildings in the five-county area.

The flooding of the Loup and Cedar rivers and their tributaries caused substantial damage in the lower Loup Valley from Fullerton to Columbus.

Gov. Morrison asked President Johnson to make the "disaster" designation.

Wheat Acreage Hike Hit

Republican congressional candidate Robert V. Denney Wednesday called the recent 30% hike in wheat acreage allotment a "disgrace to the intelligence of the farmer."

Denney, a Fairbury attorney, added: "If the administration is serious about 100% parity price supports there should be some assurance of protection given the farmers who are being allowed to produce more wheat so that they won't be subsidizing consumer and foreign policy at the expense of agriculture."

"What the administration has failed to tell the farmer that if a surplus should result, there are no wheat certificates available on the extra acreage and the farmer would be required to depend upon the $1.25 support price which is less than one-half of parity. This definitely could happen."

Denney said if the Johnson administration is serious about parity prices it should guarantee full parity instead of talking about it.

Landmark Car Safety Bill Sent To Johnson

Washington (AP) — Congress passed and sent to President Johnson Wednesday landmark legislation requiring federal safety standards for new autos starting with 1968 models and for used cars within two years.

The House passed the bill 365 to 0 and the Senate followed within hours by voice vote.

Also passed by the House, 360 to 3, was a comprehensive state-city program to halt the rise in deaths on the highways and streets. The Senate was expected to approve it too in quick order.

Trio Named

The three House members who voted against the highway safety measure were Reps. John O. Marsh Jr., D-Va., David E. Satterfield III, D-Va., and Maston O'Neal, D-Ga., the same trio who voted against the legislation the first time the House acted on it earlier this year.

The bills are both compromise measures worked out earlier this week by a Senate-House conference committee. They authorize total federal spending over three years of $381.8 million.

Johnson was expected to sign both bills over the week-end, possibly on Labor Day.

Monday, at the auto capital of Detroit.

Just before the Senate voted on the auto safety measure, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., its chief Senate sponsor, said the auto industry should not use it as an excuse to raise prices either this year or in the future.

By Jan. 31

The auto safety bill requires the secretary of commerce to issue federal safety standards by Jan. 31, 1967, to take effect for 1968 model cars, buses and trucks.

The bill requires the auto makers to certify new cars as meeting federal standards and to notify purchasers and the government of any safety defects. It sets civil penalties of $1,000 per violation with a $100,000 maximum.

The auto bill carries authorization for expenditure of $51 million for setting the safety standards, $5.8 million for the tire standards and $3 million to study the need for a federal test facility to look into automobile accidents and injuries.

The highway safety measure provides $222 million, most of it for federal aid to states and localities to be used for the establishment of comprehensive safety programs.

Report Challenges Watts Explanation

Sacramento, Calif. (UPI) — When the Watts district of Los Angeles exploded last summer in one of the nation's worst riots, the standard explanation was unemployment, juvenile gangs and recent Negro immigrants from the South.

A special state report made public Wednesday by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch challenged those basic assumptions. Instead, it pictured the "average" rioter as an employed male Negro adult who had lived in Los Angeles at least five years.

The 46-page report — "Watts Riot Arrests" — was compiled over almost a year by the state bureau of criminal identification and investigation.

Eight Days

The riot began Aug. 11, 1965, and continued until Aug. 18. Thirty-four persons were killed and property damage amounted to $40 million.

Arrests during the riot totaled 3,371 adults and 556 persons under 18 years of age. All but 200 of those arrested were Negroes. There were 439 women arrested.

The picture of the "average" rioter in Watts came

Profile

The probation reports showed the following social and economic characteristics:

Marital status: 41% married, 27% separated, divorced or widowed, 45% living with parents, relatives or friends, 15% living alone.

Education: 32% high school graduates and almost 12% with additional schooling.

Employment: 73% employed when arrested and 22.6% unemployed, 30% in skilled, semiskilled or technical occupations, 36% unskilled workers, 25% domestics and 8% in sales or clerical work.

Income: Almost 29% earned less than $200 a month, about 49% earned between $200 and $400 a month, and 22% earned $400 or more.

Residence: 75% lived in Los Angeles County at least five years, only 6% less than a year.

Most juveniles were male Negroes between 15 and 17 and came from a home of unmarried, separated, divorced or deceased parents.

Connally Sees Ag Pay Hikers In Sun, Nixes Session Plea

New Braunfels, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally, confronting the Rio Grande Valley farm wage marchers in a hot sun on the highway to Austin Wednesday, flatly rejected their plea for a special legislative session to enact a $1.25 minimum wage.

And he told them time and time again he would not be in Austin for their scheduled Labor Day rally on the Capitol grounds.

Within minutes, President Hank Brown of the Texas AFL-CIO pledged labor's full financial and leadership assistance to the march.

"I don't think the problem was solved by this meeting in the sun along the highway," said Brown.

The march leaders — Eugene Nelson and the Revs. James L. Novarro and Antonio Gonzales, both of Houston, said Connally said nothing that would indicate his support of the demonstration.

They urged politicians and citizens "who believe in a minimum wage of $1.25 to join us in protest of the misery of the workers of this state."

Nixon To Speak At Omaha GOP Dinner Sept. 23

Omaha (AP) — Former Vice President Richard Nixon will speak at a statewide Republican dinner at the Omaha Civic Auditorium Sept. 23.

M. R. Thurmond, Douglas County Republican finance chairman who made the announcement, said Nixon had accepted the invitation of Sens. Carl T. Curtis and Roman Hruska to speak at the $50-a-plate dinner.

Dinner proceeds will be used for local and state candidates in the November election.

The dinner will wind up the Republican State Convention citizens "who believe in a Hearing Recesses In Union Pacific-Rock Island Case

Chicago (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing into a proposed merger of the Rock Island and Union Pacific railroads was recessed until Sept. 21.

The hearing has been in progress, with one or two interruptions, since May 4. The Union Pacific's attempt to consolidate with the 7,000-mile Rock Island is opposed by the Chicago and North Western Railway, which also seeks to acquire control of the line.

ICC Examiner Paul C. Albus announced the recess at the conclusion of cross-examination of Albert F. Hatcher, chief traffic officer of the Rock Island.

Hatcher's testimony dealt with a traffic study concerning the potentialities of the Rock Island and Union Pacific if the merger is approved.

New Base Wage Will Start In '68

Washington (AP)—Senate House conferees agreed Wednesday to make the new $1.60-an-hour minimum wage effective in 1968—not 1969—and to bring in eight million more workers—about one million more than the Senate had voted.

But they put off until Thursday settling the remaining minor points in bills passed by the House and Senate.

However, Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., chairman of the Senate delegation, said it would not be possible to bring the compromise version up for House and Senate action before next week.

This knocked out reported hopes of the White House that President Johnson would be able to sign the measure on Labor Day, next Monday.

The House conferees bowed to the Senate in asking the $1.60 minimum effective Feb. 1, 1968. The House had voted for a later date, Feb. 1, 1969.

Both House and Senate had voted to raise the present $1.25 floor to $1.40 on Feb. 1, 1967.

Work Started To Limit 'Medicaid' To States

Washington (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee has begun work on legislation to set limits on federally aided state programs for medical care of the poor and "medically indigent."

Informants disclosed the committee is writing preliminary drafts of a bill to curb outlays under the so-called "medicaid" provisions of last year's Medicare law.

The costs are far beyond Congress' expectations. A spokesman of the Health, Education and Welfare Department said the first year federal share of the new plans approved by the department for 14 states and Puerto Rico are estimated at much more than twice the federal outlays for the same year states last year.

These programs are separate from the medicare hospital and health insurance program for those 65 and older. This program, administered under Social Security, is not affected by the legislation now being considered.

What would be affected is the broadened provisions for federal aid to state health services for persons who, regardless of age, are considered destitute, dependent of "medically indigent."

The 15 programs approved so far are estimated to require about $536.2 million, a department spokesman said, or $314.1 million more than the actual federal cost of $222.1 million for the previous medical care programs for the needy in those areas in the year ended June 30, 1965.

The programs are in operation in California, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Puerto Rico, Utah and Washington.

The estimates given Congress last year, when this section of the medicare law was under study, was that the first-year costs for those states would total $238 million.

Pay Promise Causes Return Of San Francisco Nurses

San Francisco (AP)—With the promise of a pay increase, nurses in city-operated hospitals ended a one-day walkout Wednesday and returned to their jobs.

But it was still just a promise. The city controller said he won't pay the higher wages until the courts order him to do so. And the board of supervisors had yet to appropriate the money.

After reporting "sick" Tuesday in support of demands for higher pay, nearly all registered nurses were back on the job.

The settlement was reached after Mayor John F. Shelley declared an emergency which permitted evading provisions of the city charter against pay raises in the middle of a fiscal year.

Starting Wednesday, the new scale for the nurses ranges from $578 to $703 a month, depending on experience. The old range was $465 to $565.

City Controller Nathan Cooper said this would cost the city about $900,000 between Sept. 1 and July 1, when the next fiscal year starts.

Cooper said, "I will refuse to pay" the higher salaries to city nurses "to test the validity of the mayor's emergency proclamation."

Judge Christ Seraphim Picketed In Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis. (AP)—A militant civil rights group shifted its tactics from suburban Wauwatosa to the home of a county judge on Milwaukee's Northeast Side Wednesday night.

The picketing began after a conciliation meeting with Circuit Judge Robert C. Cannon.

Spokesmen for the group declined to say what conclusions had been reached at the session with Judge Cannon.

But he said, "We are going to stop picketing him. He's a liberal and if he can stay with his illogical reasoning we'll have to stick with him. He is the best we have."

The picketing lasted for about an hour in the quiet Milwaukee neighborhood. Then the pickets left for their meeting with Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette at the offices of one of the civil rights lawyers.

A bus load of young pickets moved into the neighborhood of County Judge Christ Seraphim shortly before the meeting with La Follette was to have been held.

Judge Seraphim, like Judge Cannon, is a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

La Follette told newsmen the meeting was to discuss guidelines for picketing—but only as far as it concerned Wauwatosa.

Taj Mahal Once Almost Blown Up

New Delhi (AP)—The Taj Mahal, the marvel of 17th Century Mogul architecture at Agra, once long ago narrowly escaped demolition, the Times of India reported, quoting from a Feb. 7, 1900, speech by Viceroy Lord Curzon.

The story was handed down from a British predecessor, Governor-General Lord Bentinck (William Cavendish Bentinck, 1774-1839), who said the would-be wreckers were interested in salvaging the Taj marble but didn't say what held them off.

Huskers Huskier For '66

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The 1966 Nebraska football team will be the largest in the school's history.

That fact was confirmed Wednesday as 91 Husker gridgers put more than 10 tons of weight on the fieldhouse scales during official Big Eight weigh-ins.

The 91 players weighed in at 20,182 pounds or an average of 215 pounds per man, far surpassing what was believed to have been the heaviest Huskers ever—the 1963 aggregation that included Bob Brown and Lloyd Voss.

That 1963 team of 66 players weighed 13,449 pounds, an average of 204 pounds. Only seven players off that team were above 230 while 18 topped that figure a year ago.

Twenty-eight of the 91 players weighing in Wednesday made the scales jump to 230 or more.

Bob Taucher, the 6-5 giant from Cleveland weighed in at 275 to edge out Louis Cooper, the 6-7 by 273-pound defensive tackle, for "biggest honors."

Taucher and Cooper were the only Huskers in the 270 category, but hitting the 260 mark were offensive tackle Jim Gatzert at 264, defensive tackle Carl Stith at 261, left end Earl Leggett at 266, and left tackle Sam Buda barely missed at 259.

The lightest member of the squad, replacing Frank Sober, is Larry Wachholtz at 166.

On the quarterback, Bob Church at 173, safety Sam Beechler at 175, defensive halfback Dennis Lored at 174, and defensive halfback Laurie Green at 176 are able to sneak in under 180.

After weighing in Wednesday afternoon, the Huskers staged a light workout, wearing shorts and minus pads.

The NU camp will be visited by the touring Big Eight Skywriters this afternoon.

GIANTS, PIRATES BOTH WIN

BIGGEST AND SMALLEST . . . Biggest Husker, Bob Taucher, hovers over smallest NU gridder, Larry Wachholtz.

... Marichal Gains 20th Victory, 2-1

By United Press International
Southpaw Billy O'Dell hurled four innings of shut-out relief ball Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates sent Don Drysdale to his 15th defeat of the season with a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The victory enabled Pittsburgh to retain a share of first-place in the National League with San Francisco, a 2-1 winner over New York, and dropped the third-place Dodgers off the National League pace.

O'Dell came into the game in relief of Steve Blass in the sixth inning after Willie Davis' three-run homer had reduced the Pirates lead to 4-3. The veteran lefty scattered five hits the rest of the way and pitched out of two jams as he protected Blass' ninth win in 14 decisions. Blass has not completed a game in 23 straight starts. The Pirates scored all their runs off Drysdale in the fifth by smacking out six singles. With one out Bob Bailey beat out an infield hit, Jim Pagliaroni blooped a single to center and Blass beat out an infield hit to fill the bases.

Gene Alley singled to score Bailey and Pagliaroni. Clemente singled to score Blass and Willie Stargell singled home Alley.

Willie Mays opened the ninth inning with a triple and scored on a two-out throwing error by catcher Jerry Grote to give Juan Marichal his 20th victory as the San Francisco Giants edged the New York Mets 2-1.

Mays tripled off the right centerfield wall but held third as Jack Fisher retired Willie McCovey. Jim Ray Hart then flew to short right field and Mays who made a short break home after tagging up, decided to stay on strike as Cleon Jones fired a strike to the plate. Grote, however, made an attempt to get Mays at third and threw the ball into left field as the Giant star scampered home with the winning run.

Marichal, who has never lost to the Mets in 17 decisions, hurled a four-hitter in bringing his season record to 20-5. Fisher, who allowed the Giants only four hits, took his 12th loss in 21 decisions.

Frank Robinson celebrated his 31st birthday by collecting four hits, including his 43rd home run of the season, to lead the Baltimore Orioles on a 5-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The victory snapped a four-game Oriole losing streak and increased Baltimore's league lead to 12 games.

Jim Kaat, the American League's winningest pitcher, picked up his 21st victory as Minnesota trounced Boston 11-2. It was the sixth straight win and 15th complete game for the tall lefthander who gave up seven hits and fanned five.

—PRIDE AN ADVANTAGE—

Devine Says Tigers To Be 'Good Team'

Columbia, Mo. (P)—"I think we're going to have a good football team," Missouri coach Dan Devine said Wednesday. "I'll be bitterly disappointed if we don't."

"I'll be doggone unhappy if we don't at least finish in the first division," Devine told Big Eight Skywriters.

"Our momentum and our pride are advantages," he said. "There is no way I can say now that we'll be as good as we were in 1965. The reason is we aren't an experienced team."

Missouri was the Big Eight runner-up and Sugar Bowl champion last fall. The Tigers are considered the league's No. 3 team this year, behind defending champion Nebraska and Colorado.

"Our strength includes a good pair of starting halfbacks in Earl Denny and Charlie Brown; a good safety in Gary Grossnickle; tackle Bill Powell, guard Don Nelson, ends Russ Washington and Dan Schuppan and defensive back Jim Whitaker," he said.

The other boys are going to have to pretty much prove themselves," he added.

Devine said he would list quarterback as neither a strength nor a weakness, but he didn't think quarterback was a problem.

"Gary Kombrink is ahead at quarterback right now," he said. "He's a spunky little guy, smart and quick and an excellent runner."

Missouri's first three games are against Minnesota, Illinois and the Rose Bowl Champion, UCLA. But Devine said this could help mature the team.

"If we get through those three games without any key injuries and play well," he said, "this schedule could work to our advantage."

The coach said Bill Powell and Washington, 6 foot 6 and 280 pounds, will start on defense and both will play a lot of offensive tackle. "These two will be our only two-way players," he said.

The Tigers have only 18 lettermen and must rebuild their offensive line. "I have confidence in our line," Kombrink said.

Denny said the Tigers don't feel great pre-season pressure as the 1965 club did.

"We have a chance to be as good as last year," Denny said.

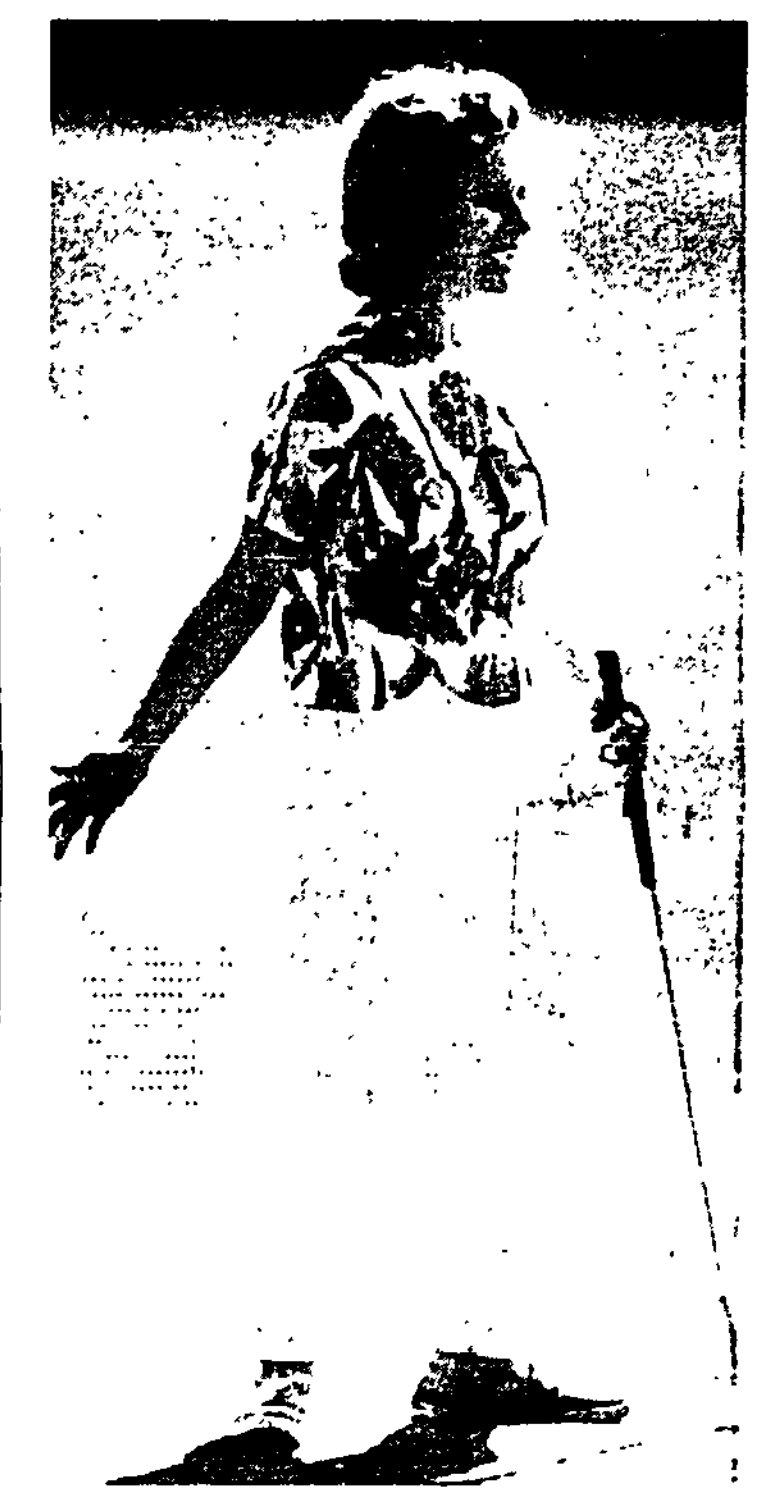

Brown, All-Big Eight halfback who gained 937 yards last fall, said he believes the Tigers have "plenty of leadership and the ability to cause trouble in the league race."

Weyhrauch Maintains Ladies Pub-Links Lead

Janet Weyhrauch maintained her lead through the second day of the Lincoln Ladies Pub-Links Golf Tournament Wednesday with a net 83 at Pioneers Park for a 162 total.

The final round will be played today at Holmes Park.

Rug Salesman Leads National Amateur

... WHIFFS ONE BALL COMPLETELY EN ROUTE TO 69

Ardmore, Pa. (P)—Roger McManus, a 42-year-old Ohio rug salesman, ran off a streak of four straight birdies for a one-under-par 69 Wednesday that gave him a one-stroke lead in the first round of the 66th National Amateur Golf Championship.

The mild-mannered midwesterner from Hartsville, Ohio, who lines up his putts through thick spectacles and then putts without them, would have fattened his advantage if he hadn't whiffed a ball completely and taken a double bogey on the short 17th hole.

One shot back of him, tied at even par 70, came Ron Cerrudo, a 21-year-old San Jose State senior from San Rafael, Calif., who blew his chances with a double bogey 6 on the final hole, and Jerry Greenbaum, a 25-year-old real estate and liquor store owner from Atlanta.

It was a day of wasted opportunities for many in the field of 150, who found the 6,509-yard, par 70 Merion Golf Club course a tiger that snapped back repeatedly.

McManus, a semifinal loser to Charlie Coe in the match play championship in 1958, birdied five of the first nine holes—four in a row starting at the sixth—and came to the 17th hole needing par for a 67.

At the 224-yard 17th, he hit his tee shot just over the green onto the back of a trap. He had to stand with one foot in the sand to swing. On his first try, he missed the ball completely.

He then elected to accept his position as an unplayable lie. He dropped a ball with a penalty stroke, hit a beautiful shot to within three feet of the cup for his bogey 5. It looked as if he was going for seven.

On the final hole, he had to recover from a trap and sink an 8-footer for his par.

Astleford Cards 79 In Amateur

Ardmore, Pa. (P)—Nebraska State Amateur Champion Bob Astleford of Omaha shot a nine-over-par 79 in the first round of the National Amateur here Wednesday to trail the leader by 10 strokes.

Astleford wasn't able to find a birdie during his round and went three over par at the turn with three bogeys.

He bogeyed three straight holes on the back side, starting with the 11th, then took a double-bogey-6 at the 16th and another bogey at No. 17 for his 79.

—STAPLETON OPTIMISTIC—

Cyclones Could Be Best Ever At ISU

Ames, Iowa (P)—"This is potentially the best team I've had at Iowa State," Coach Clay Stapleton said here Wednesday night.

"But the conference is the toughest since I've been here."

Stapleton said his defensive unit is a question mark because of inexperience but "I feel the defense will be better than in 1965 because we have better personnel."

"In Willie Muldrew, 227-pound tackle, we have the best sophomore lineman I've ever had at Iowa State. He is all reflexes and puts out better than 100 per cent on every play."

linebacker Terry Voy, 211.

"Once again we will be throwing when we get off the bus but this time we will be throwing a little more," the coach said.

Stapleton was high in his praise of split end Eppie Barney, quarterback Tim Van Gilder, offensive guard Bill Brooks and wingback Tom Busch.

"There isn't much I can say about Van Gilder that he hasn't said himself, already," Stapleton said.

"He is an outstanding personality and I never hope to have a better quarterback at Iowa State."

Knee Ailment Sends Ex-Husker Johnson Home

Black Mountain, N.C. (P)—The Atlanta Falcons bought fullback Jimmy Sidle from the Dallas Cowboys Wednesday and will look at him as a possible running back.

Sidle, a fourth round draft choice in 1965, saw little action last year because of a recurrence of a shoulder injury received when he was quarterbacking for Auburn in 1961.

Halfback Rudy Johnson was permitted to return home to Lincoln, Neb., for the season because of his slow recovery from a knee operation. He is a three-year veteran from the San Francisco 49ers.

KU Football Team Reports In Good Shape

Lawrence, Kan. (P)—The Kansas University football team is in good physical shape, especially in regard to weight, coach Jack Mitchell said Wednesday.

Mitchell said all the players kept their weight within limits he set for them last spring.

Heaviest man on the squad is Keith Christensen, 255-pound sophomore tackle from Concordia, Kan. Mitchell said Christensen came down from 290 pounds.

Golf Duos Advance

Ted Sick and C. E. Swanson defeated Ed Taber and Bill Harder, 1-up, while Dick Joyner and Bob Mowbray downed Dale Ganz and Pete Jenkins, also 1-up, in Wednesday quarterfinal matches in the Lincoln Country Club's Two-Man Team Club Championship.

—WOOLLEY ALSO AT FAIR— Lincoln's Beckman Will Drive Sprinter

Two drivers, who have been standouts in local supermodified racing circles, have been nominated for seats in a pair of the Midwest's quickest sprint cars during three days of racing at the State Fair Saturday, Sunday and Monday afternoons.

Nebraska State Fair secretary Henry Brandt also points out that the races will mark the first occasion for the sprinters to run on the new half-mile track, completed this summer.

Brandt said that Lloyd Beckman of Lincoln would be at the wheel of the No. 52 Offenhauser-powered machine owned by Red Lemphus of St. Paul, Minn. Beckman, whose lifetime racing record probably includes more victories than any other Nebraska driver, a veteran of 15 years in the speed sport.

The second entry of interest is that of Gordon Woolley of Waco, Texas, the 1963 International Motor Contest Association sprint car champ, who races in supers whenever it doesn't interfere with his activities on the IMCA circuit.

Woolley will be in the Bill Hovack No. 92 Chevy-powered sprinter, the same one he drove to a second place in last Sunday's Missouri Futurity classic at the Sedalia State fair.

In that event Woolley trailed the eventual winner, Bill Uiz of Sedalia, for some 25 miles, repeatedly thrusting a long-side only to have to fall back as the pair swept through the narrow turns.

A field of 30 or more cars is expected for this weekend's racing. Brandt said more than 30 entries have already been recorded. Time trials Saturday will be at 1 p.m. and will hold for the race meet. The first of six racing events will get under way at 2:30 p.m.

Minnesota Sprint Win To Bigelow

St. Paul, Minn. (UPI)—Tom Bigelow of Whitewater, Wis., competing in a compact sprint car for only the second time this summer, won the 20-lap feature at Minnesota State Fair Wednesday.

The 26-year-old former truck driver, now a full-time auto racing competitor, was clocked in 8:02.20 and won $300.

... PALMER SHAKES OFF PROBLEMS, SAYS HE STILL CAN AND WILL WIN

First in Series
By WILL GRIMSLEY
Philadelphia (AP) — Less than two weeks ago, Arnold Palmer became so discouraged with his golf game, that he was tempted to chuck his clubs in the closet and forget it.

He had just shot a 77—his worst competitive round of the year and the highest by any golfer who survived the halfway cut — in the final round of the Insurance City Open at Wethersfield, Conn. It was a dreadful, humiliating experience for the man who had dominated the sport for most of the past decade.

"It would have been easy to quit — the easiest thing in the world," Palmer recalled last weekend during the Philadelphia Golf Classic. "Doc over there knows how close I came to it."

He pointed to Doc Giffin, one of his personal managers, leaning casually against one of the lockers at the White-marsh Valley Country Club.

"Then I braced myself," the bronzed, muscled professional continued. "I told myself 'into every life some rain must fall'. I said it would be foolish to run and hide just because of a little rain."

"All I need is some rest. I want to get the frame of mind back again. I'll be okay."

The old frame of mind — that fierce competitive drive and wave of supreme confidence—apparently is the key to the future of this greenskeeper's son who has amassed a fortune and become the idol of golf galleries throughout the world.

Is Palmer through? Has the flame died? And have the juices that once carried him to sensational victory after victory quit flowing?

Many observers contend so. Arnie vigorously denies it.

Still, Palmer must live with the realization that he has scored only four tournament victories in the last two years, that he blew a seven-stroke lead in the last nine holes to Bill Casper in the National Open last June, and that he appears to be developing a last-round blow-up complex.

In the Philadelphia Classic, Palmer was tied for the lead going into the final round and then took two double bogeys on the outgoing nine to throw away his chances.

Is the blow-up in the Open at San Francisco a ghost that still lives with him?

"I've got to admit I still think about it," Palmer said. "One moment I seemed to have my second Open, something I had pointed to and worked for since the Master's. More than that, it looked as if I was going to get Ben Hogan's record. Then — blew — it was gone."

"You don't shake a thing like that very easily. But to say that it's something that will destroy my game, that's ridiculous."

"I'm not superstitious. I don't believe in jinxes. I have had problems. I got a bad back at New Orleans. I have had a touch of bursitis. I've let my business interfere with my golf, to an extent."

"These are things that can be worked out. My back is well. I haven't been troubled lately by bursitis. I think through better organization of my affairs I can get business off my neck except for about two months out of the year. The rest of the time I can concentrate on golf."

"It's just a matter of getting the feeling back. I plan to take about a month off, rest and work on my game. I'm 36. I should have plenty of tournament golf left in my system."

"I think I can still win, and I will."

—LT. GEN. COMPTON EX-NEBRASKA CHAMPION—

Pentagon Official In Amateur Field

Ardmore, Pa. (AP)—The telephone rang at the U.S. Golf Association Tournament office here, and a crisp, business-like voice at the other end said:

"This is the Pentagon calling."

"The Pentagon?" gulped Frank Hannigan, assistant director of the USGA. "Yes?"

"The general is on his way," the caller said.

"You must have the wrong number," Hannigan protested. "This is the Merion Golf Club."

"We know," replied the irritated voice at the Pentagon. "The general will be there by noon."

The general is Lt. Gen. Keith Compton, 50, nut-brown, slender deputy chief of staff of plans and operations of the U.S. Air Force.

He is one of 150 golfers playing in the 66th National Amateur Golf Championship.

The three-star general, a scratch player who once shot a 67 over the awesome Pine Valley Club in New Jersey, goes into the tournament a little apprehensively.

"If I happened to do anything or get my name in the paper, there's no telling what criticism I'd get," Compton said. "It's all right for a business executive or a professional man to play golf, but a government official is always under scrutiny."

"I'd like to make it quite clear that I am on leave. If anything of a serious nature came up, we have fellows at the Pentagon to handle it."

This is only Compton's second tournament since he attended Westminster of Fulton, Mo., and captured the Missouri Valley intercollegiate golf crown.

He won the Nebraska Amateur in 1961 in his only try. This is his first time in the Amateur.

Braves Saddle Richards With Rebuilding Job

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—The Atlanta Braves, struggling in the second division in a disappointing debut in Dixie, turned the task of rebuilding the club over to Paul Richards Wednesday.

The 57-year-old baseball veteran was named vice president of the Braves and will take on many duties previously performed by John McHale, president and general manager.

McHale will continue to hold the two titles, but will concentrate more on administrative chores, according to Bill Bartholomay, chairman of the board of the Braves and their biggest stockholder.

Bartholomay said Richards will have full responsibility for "the acquisition and development of players in our system."

Final Stagette

The final session of the Lincoln Country Club's Ladies' Stagette golf competition will be Friday afternoon with a dinner and the awarding of prizes slated in the evening.

Green Bay Deal Sends Ron Smith To Pittsburgh

Green Bay, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, defending National Football League champions, traded third string quarterback Ron Smith to the Pittsburgh Steelers Wednesday and announced the names of two of the seven players Coach Vince Lombardi had placed on waivers.

Lombardi refused to disclose any details of the deal for Smith, who had been obtained from the Los Angeles Rams in a swap that sent halfback Tom Moore to the West Coast.

The Packer coach said waivers had been asked on defensive tackle Rich Marshall, a second year man, and defensive back Bill Symons, who spent last season on the Green Bay taxi squad.

Two Ex-Big 8 Stars Among Cardinal Cuts
St. Louis (AP)—The St. Louis football Cardinals announced Wednesday that they had released two veterans and four rookies to cut their squad to 43.

Released were veterans Monk Bailey, a defensive back from Utah, and Ed McQuarters, a defensive end from Oklahoma, and center Dick Kasperek of Iowa State, flanker Harlan Lane of Baylor, linebacker Buddy Owens of Michigan State and guard Frank Roy of Utah.

Tubbs Returns As Player-Coach
Dallas, Tex. (AP)—Linebacker Jerry Tubbs, 31, a nine-year veteran in the National Football League who retired after last season, said Wednesday he would rejoin the Dallas Cowboys as an active player and assistant coach.

"At this point I will be strictly insurance for Lee Roy Jordan," Tubbs said.

The 227-pound Jordan, 25, Dick Kasperek of Iowa State, flanker Harlan Lane of Baylor, linebacker Buddy Owens of Michigan State and guard Frank Roy of Utah.

NREA Seeks Final Approval Of Power Contract

By DON WALTON
 Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Rural Electric Association Wednesday asked the federal government to give final approval to a power supply contract between the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and Nebraska rural districts.

The contract would provide 23 rural electric districts and one cooperative with future power supply requirements beyond their present contractual commitments with the Nebraska Public Power System.

A contract has been successfully negotiated between the Bureau and the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, but it awaits the signature of Undersecretary of the Interior Kenneth Holum.

Delayed

Holum has delayed approving the document to permit rural districts and NPPS to attempt to negotiate a settlement of their long-standing power supply dispute.

But, NREA delegates said in a resolution adopted at their semi-annual convention in Lincoln, "It is readily apparent that (NPPS) will not discuss or attempt to settle the issues which result in being the major differences between NPPS and its customer group."

In other resolutions, NREA urged the Nebraska Power Review Board to approve applications by rural districts to construct delivery point facilities connecting with the NPPS grid system in order to meet growing load requirements.

Study Asked

NREA also asked the Rural Electrification Administration to study the possibility of providing financing for the construction of such facilities.

Delegates urged the Power Board to insist that Loup River Public Power District's proposed terminal substation for a 345-kilovolt federal transmission line from Fort Thompson, S.D., to the Grand Island area be designated as a "common carrier" if Loup is to be granted authority to construct the facility.

NREA once again endorsed construction of such a 345-KV transmission line, urged the 1967 Legislature to once again attempt to merge wholesale power supply districts, and endorsed construction of a second 400,000-kilowatt electric generation unit by Basin Electric Cooperative in North Dakota.

Delegates also urged swift congressional action approving the proposed REA supplemental financing plan, specifically commended Rep. Clair Callan for his efforts in behalf of the financing proposal and expressed their confidence in the Power Review Board.

Power Board Chairman William Norton of Osceola told the convention that the board will probably recommend to the Legislative Council's power study committee legislation which would enlarge the authority of the board.

Norton predicted that a bill will be presented to the next Legislature to abolish the board.

Must Choose

But the power industry, and Nebraska, he said, must choose whether they want "an honest board" or "a rubber stamp."

Norton said he continues to favor a merger of wholesale suppliers and some consolidation of retail districts.

Orderly expansion of municipal electric service areas is inevitable, he told the rural representatives.

To Seek Merger

Dil Blanchard of Columbus, manager of the Nebraska Electric G&T, said rural districts will ask the 1967 Legislature to attempt to pass an other wholesale merger bill following the general objective of the ill-fated act approved by the 1967 session and nullified by a State Supreme Court decision.

A voluntary merger would be "much preferred," Blanchard said, "but until we see some concrete evidence (of progress toward such consolidation), we will proceed with our own program."

Blanchard predicted that the Power Board will be given additional powers by the lawmakers.

Proposed legislation to set aside industrial areas outside municipal service areas for municipal electric growth would be "a start toward eroding rural service areas," he warned.

REA Official Says State Vulnerable To Blackouts

A national Rural Electric Association (REA) spokesman said here Wednesday Nebraska's power system is definitely vulnerable to future collapses.

George King, Jr., REA operations field representative from Topeka, Kan., commented at a news conference held in conjunction with the semi-annual meeting of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association.

He referred specifically to the two-stage July 11 power blackout which covered much of eastern Nebraska.

"The cause of blackouts in year area is due to insufficient generation and transmission facilities to carry the power," King declared. "That is the trouble with the Nebraska power system."

According to King, Nebraska is dependent upon the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation for power reserve yet it has only one tie with power sources outside the state.

"The problem (last July) was there was no alternative to supplying additional power. You have to be able to lose major power sources and not be affected," he said.

Morrison Says He's Been Busy On Power Line

Gov. Frank Morrison told Nebraska rural power leaders Wednesday he has been in constant contact with the federal government in an effort to begin construction of a high-voltage transmission line to the Grand Island area.

The proposed U.S. Bureau of reclamation line would stretch from Fort Thompson, S.D., to central Nebraska. It would cost several million dollars.

The governor said he is "vitaly interested" in getting swift action on the line. He promised to continue to pursue the matter.

Morrison congratulated the semi-annual meeting of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association for the growth of rural power systems in Nebraska.

He said in 1960 there were 678,000 Nebraskans living in rural areas compared to 719,000 ten years earlier, yet the REA load during that span nearly doubled.

Van Pelt Dismisses Inmate's Petition To 'Restrain' Sigler

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer

U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt Wednesday dismissed a Nebraska penitentiary inmate's petition asking that Warden Maurice Sigler be restrained from holding the inmate in the prison's maximum security area.

The prisoner, Jerry Erving Jr., had asked for an injunction.

Judge Cancels Douglas Board Order On Levy

Omaha (U) — District Judge John Murphy has cancelled an order which compelled the Douglas County Board to either reinstate the 3.29 mill levy or appear Friday to explain why the rollback should remain in effect.

Though a hearing is still set for Friday, the city now is in a position of proving why the county could not cut the levy.

If it does, then the county will need to prove the levy reduction should remain.

Judge Murphy said the reason for nullifying the first order was that it had been presented to Judge Rudolph Tesar, who refused to sign it and ordered it brought to court Tuesday. Judge Murphy said he was not so advised before signing the original order Monday night.

Midnight Monday had been the deadline of certifying the levies.

five restraining order arising out of an August incident in which 11 inmates were confined to the prison adjustment center because of failure to respond to orders of the prison staff.

According to the petition, Erving and others were confined following an incident in which inmate Leon Mason allegedly assaulted guard John Chopp in the penitentiary commissary.

Apparently refused. The inmates apparently refused to go to their cells from the prison yard when ordered to do so by Warden Sigler and other prison officials, following Mason's call to report over the prison intercom.

Erving's petition, filed in his behalf by his father Jerry Sr., also an inmate, claimed that "certain inmates were punished solely because of their race."

Both Erving and Mason are Negroes.

The others sent to maximum security also including some white prisoners, had expressed fears for Mason's wellbeing and had refused to return from the prison yard after being urged to do so by the warden and three other officers.

In his order, Judge Van Pelt dismissed the complaint filed by Erving on the following grounds:

—The complaint is not sufficient to constitute a claim under the civil rights act.

—It is not shown beyond the mere conclusions alleged...

that race had anything to do with the confinement. In fact the opposite appears true, namely, that race had nothing to do with confinement, as both white and Negro inmates were confined.

All inmates in question "knew of the order to return to their cells and had disobeyed that order," the judge said.

—The complaint of Mr. Erving on behalf of his son does not show any action taken by those in authority at the penitentiary that was not justified by the circumstances.

—This court will not lend its aid to men who willfully disobey the warden's orders, such as an order to return to their cells.

In a "gratuitous" supplement to the dismissal, Judge Van Pelt expressed his opinion of the maximum security area where Mason was sent. Said the judge:

"He (Judge Van Pelt) has examined personally 'the hole'. It is not in any sense a hole. No part of it is underground. It is of relatively new construction. It is clean. It is a place of close confinement, where each prisoner is separated from other prisoners.

"Its use in the cases that have been before this court has been within the proper range of the discretion of those charged with administration at the penitentiary," the judge said.

Base Housing Disposition Not Decided

No decision was reached by late Wednesday night over the disposition of the 1,000 Lincoln Air Force Base housing units.

Lincoln Housing Authority Chairman Kenneth King, Mayor Dean Petersen and officials of the federal government will meet again Thursday morning to try and come to terms on a housing authority proposal to rent locally the federally-owned units.

"We have been offered a contract, which if accepted, would mean we could have an agreement Thursday," King said.

The authority had proposed entering into a five-year contract with the government, with an 18-month cancellation clause, applied to either party. The government has come up with a counter-proposal.

King said housing authority members would meet early Thursday to discuss the federal proposal. Asked about the possibility of agreement, King said: "We either will have a contract or we won't have."

Purse Snatched; Culprit Caught

Pittsburgh (U) — When a man snatched Mrs. Barbara Werner's purse in downtown Pittsburgh Wednesday the 34-year-old diminutive legal secretary didn't scream.

She took off her high heels, hiked her skirt and chased him through the crowded streets, catching the man at a street corner.

There, the 5-foot-3, 104-pound Mrs. Werner beat him with her shoes. The purse-snatcher staggered and she grabbed back her purse.

"It was automatic," said Mrs. Werner of nearby Monroeville. "I didn't see any policeman, so I hit him over the head with the heel of my shoe."

The purse contained $240 for the purchase of federal stamps for her employer — Judge Walter Koegler of Allegheny County.

"It was Mr. Koegler's money," said Mrs. Werner, "and I knew I just couldn't let that man take it from me."

Cuba Red Organ Cails Glorifying Of Mao Harmful

Havana (U) — The Communist Party newspaper Granma said Wednesday Red China's campaign glorifying Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung was ridiculous and harmful to the world Communist movement.

"It is a sad circumstance that the People's Republic of China has given the enemies of socialism and communism cause for laughing and taunting," Granma said.

Pat Back On Job, In Baggy Jeans

Gardiner, Ore. (UPI) — Baggy jeans and a loose-fitting blouse—both in blue—were fashionable Wednesday for female mill workers in this small lumber community.

That's the attire Pat Morris wore for the graveyard shift Tuesday night to end a week-long battle of the bulge touched off by skin-tight jeans and a form-fitting blouse for her 39-27-39 figure.

Miss Morris, 35, declined requests by newsmen for an interview, but did say she planned to continue working at the International Paper Co. plywood mill.

She was sent home Aug. 23 because she allegedly was too distracting for male employees. The men didn't think so, and they went home, too—on strike.

The company's action was described by the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union as illegal. The firm countered with a federal court suit, claiming the strike violated contract provisions.

After a series of closed-door meetings between union and management, agreement was reached to end the strike. Terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

But, now everyone knows the dimensions cloaked by the baggy jeans and loose-fitting blouse. For the record, Miss Morris also is 5 feet, six inches tall and 138 pounds.
